Social Security Bill, Riders May Get Quick Senate Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Backers of President Nixon's welfare reform plan searched today for a way to get a Senate floor vote on the proposal ahead of action on a bitterly controversial quota-setting foreign trade measure.

Both are being considered as riders on a mammoth Social Security bill on which Majority Leader Mike Mansfield said floor debate could begin this afternoon.

Supporters of Nixon's family assistance plan for revamping the welfare system wanted it considered first because a filibuster is threatened against the trade rider. Advocates of the welfare plan fear the talkathon would cause such a long delay their bill would be shelved.

With Congress pushing toward adjournment, several key senators are saying privately none of the riders attached to the Social Security bill will be passed. However, they predict the Social Security increases will be approved.

The Senate Finance Committee has approved a 10 per cent increase in Social Security benefits with a $100-a-month minimum individual payment. The House voted a 5 per cent hike effective Jan. 1.

Supporters of the family plan lost a round Monday when the Finance Committee, dominated by supporters of the trade rider, filed its bill and report with the Senate.

The trade provision was placed ahead of the welfare section and, under normal procedure, would be voted on first.

Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., a principal sponsor of the welfare amendment, told a reporter he was surprised at this development. But he said he was still searching for a parliamentary way to get his proposal considered before the trade bill.

Ribicoff said he is encouraged at prospects for his amendment by the addition, with administration backing, of another provision.

This would guarantee each state, starting in 1971, at least a 10 per cent saving on welfare expenditures.

The present formulas require wealthy states to pay about 50 per cent of welfare costs, poor states about 20 per cent.

The new clause provides that the states would have to pay only 90 per cent of what they normally would provide in 1971.

The welfare reform plan would guarantee a family of four a $1,600 annual income.

Meanwhile, Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., said a group of about 25 senators is remaining steadfast in opposition to the trade rider, which would limit imports of shoes and certain textiles.

5 Witnesses Blame Medina For My Lai

FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP) — One after another, witnesses called by Lt. William Calley Jr. say they thought his company commander, Capt. Ernest Medina, had pronounced death on My Lai village.

Five witnesses at the lieutenant's court-martial on murder charges testified Monday the captain set the scenario for the March 16, 1968 assault when he gathered Charlie Company around him the day before.

"We were told that we were going to the My Lai, Pinkville, area—going out on a search-and-destroy mission, that we could expect one or more enemy battalions," said S.Sgt. Martin Fagan of Ft. Hood, Tex., who was still on the stand when the Monday session ended.

"My impression was that anyone remaining in the village, regardless whether they were men, women and children were to be killed," Fagan said.

"He said we were going to Pinkville," said S.Sgt. L. G. Bacon, one of Calley's former squad leaders, an Army veteran now stationed at Ft. Campbell, Ky. "He said we were going to where the 48th Viet Cong battalion was and we were to kill all Viet Cong, all Viet Cong suspects, all NVA (North Vietnamese army) and all NVA suspects, destroy all food sources, kill all animals and burn the village."

Pinkville, a name born from its shade on military maps, was the My Lai area.

"To me that meant women and children and everything else," said Elmer Haywood of Baytown, Tex. "Viet Cong sympathizers can be any of these... my impression was they were all to be killed."

And said Gene R. Oliver Jr. of Cincinnati, Ohio: "Destroy—that was the word. We were supposed to level that place."

The defense hopes to show that Calley, who is charged with the murder of 102 civilians, was obeying orders from a superior.

Medina has been charged with over-all responsibility for civilian deaths at My Lai and is undergoing Army investigation to determine if he should be tried.

Last December he told a news conference at the Pentagon: "I did not order any massacre at My Lai. I had initially given a briefing... and the briefing was such that we were going to do battle with the 48th VC Battalion."

He was asked whether he ordered the shooting stopped.

"I received an order from the Task Force S-3 (operations) telling me that to make sure there weren't any innocent civilians, any women and children being killed there. I put this information out over the company command net and it was given to the platoon leaders over the company command net."

Calley was the leader of Medina's first platoon, which charged through the center of My Lai. A member of the third platoon, which entered the village later, said Medina's cease fire order was given about noon. Prosecution witnesses indicated all the killing had been carried out before then.

Bacon testified the troops had been prepared for an unflinching enemy.

"They told us," he said, "that old women and children strapped grenades on them, poisoned Cokes, and put grenades down our gas tank."

PHNOM PENH (AP) — "I only regret I didn't sink the ship," one of the hijackers of a U.S. ammunition freighter said today as he walked into the American Embassy in Phnom Penh to surrender.

"I still believe in the revolution in America and in the revolution in Cambodia," Alvin L. Glatowski, 20, of Long Beach, Calif., told newsmen. But he said he felt he would get a fairer deal in the United States than in Cambodia.

Glatowski and Clyde W. McKay, 25, of Escondido, Calif., took over the 10,000-ton Columbia Eagle in the Gulf of Thailand last March and forced the crew into the Cambodian port of Kompong Som. They have been indicted by a federal grand jury in Los Angeles on charges of mutiny on the high seas, assault, transporting kidnapped persons in foreign commerce, and neglect of duty. They could get the death penalty in the mutiny charge.

The ship and the rest of its crew were released and completed the voyage to Thailand.

McKay got away from a Cambodian guard in a Phnom Penh restaurant in October and disappeared with an American deserter from Thailand, Glatowski said that he believed they were headed for the town of Sim Rap to join Communist forces fighting in Cambodia.

Glatowski said two days ago that he was thinking of doing the same thing himself because "it's either that or stay here and rot."

Glatowski and McKay were kept on a prison boat on the Mekong River for a few weeks after the hijacking. They complained about the conditions there and were put in the servants' quarters of a government guest house in Phnom Penh and then in a hotel.

Meanwhile, the two Wisconsin Democrats who led the 52-41 Senate defeat of the original measure offered a proposal to assure quick consideration of the $2.6-billion transportation bill, which includes the SST, by separating the proposal from the supersonic plane provision.

Sens. William Proxmire and Gaylord Nelson said they would be happy to let the main bill go through this month and vote on the SST money when the new Congress convenes in January.

Their move was believed prompted by the fear some anti-SST votes may be lost in the Senate as concerns grows that time may run out on the major money package for highways, mass transit and other transportation programs.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has tapped former Texas Gov. John B. Connally as his new Treasury secretary in what is seen as a political move to blunt Democratic criticism of the administration's economic policies.

With the economy looming as a major issue in the 1972 presidential campaign, Nixon coupled announcement of Connally's appointment Monday with a call for a bipartisan approach to the nation's economic troubles.

A conservative Democrat and three-time governor of Texas, Connally brings a political and legal background to the Treasury job, normally filled by bankers, and gives the administration a stronger voice in dealing with Congress.

David M. Kennedy, the 65-year-old Chicago banker who held the Treasury post for two years, resigned effective Feb. 1 to make room for Connally. Nixon named Kennedy an ambassador-at-large in the State Department, with Cabinet seat and responsibility in international finance.

Administration sources said Connally, secretary of the Navy under former President John F. Kennedy, will be counted on to use his political talents in selling

Ferry Sinks; 250 Koreans Believed Dead

SEOUL (AP) — More than 250 South Koreans were feared drowned today in the sinking of a ferryboat in the Korean Strait.

The Namyung Ho, with 256 passengers and 20 crewmen aboard, went down on its 14-hour run between Cheju Island, south of the Korean peninsula, and the southern Korean port of Pusan.

Japanese ships picked up eight survivors, and a Korean police patrol boat picked up three others. A Korean fishing vessel reported picking up a 12th survivor who was taken to a hospital in Pusan.

A Korean police plane reported sighting two persons clinging to debris, and a Korean police officer who flew over the area said he saw oil slicks and floating wood.

Maritime authorities said they feared most of the boat's occupants had perished, however, because the rescue operation was delayed and the weather was very cold.

Transportation Ministry officials said they believed the boat sank because she was overloaded. In addition to the 276 persons aboard, they said, the 263-ton vessel carried about 250 tons of cargo.

Police said a preliminary investigation indicated that the ship had also left Cheju Island without the skipper aboard.

The ferry went down between 1:30 and 8 a.m., but Korean authorities were not aware of the sinking until around noon, when they heard news dispatches from Japan quoting Japan's Maritime Safety Agency. The agency's office in Kitakyushu, southern Japan, said it learned of the sinking from radio messages from other ships in the area.

Police said the ferry passengers included many merchants on their way to Pusan and some tourists returning to the mainland. Korean naval authorities said the weather was very calm, with only two-foot waves. The water was some 250 feet deep where the boat went down.

House Votes On Money For SST

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate critics of the supersonic transport revised their strategy today as the House prepared to vote on a scaled-down appropriation for the 1,800-mile-an-hour passenger plane.

House approval of a compromise $210 million for SST development was expected by about the same margin as the 213-174 vote last week for a full $290 million.

The vote had been scheduled Monday, but was set back a day because House members had to leave for a White House reception.

The Senate, which rejected any funds for the SST two weeks ago, is not expected to vote on the compromise before Wednesday.

Meanwhile, the two Wisconsin Democrats who led the 52-41 Senate defeat of the original measure offered a proposal to assure quick consideration of the $2.6-billion transportation bill, which includes the SST, by separating the proposal from the supersonic plane provision.

Sens. William Proxmire and Gaylord Nelson said they would be happy to let the main bill go through this month and vote on the SST money when the new Congress convenes in January.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A dull red glow seen on the eastern horizon by many Ohioans shortly before dawn today apparently resulted from rocket tests last night and early this morning over Wallops Island, Va.

The Columbus station of the weather service reported numerous calls from throughout the state.

According to the weather service, the rocket testing began at 9 p.m. Monday and continued until 5 a.m. today. Rockets were fired 125 miles high where clouds of luminescent chemicals were released.

U.S. Navy Courier Plane Crash Off Vietnam Kills 10

SAIGON (AP) — A U.S. Navy courier plane crashed today shortly after it was launched from the carrier Ranger in the Tonkin gulf, and the six Americans and four Filipinos aboard were feared killed.

A spokesman said two bodies had been recovered, and there were no signs of survivors.

First reports said all aboard were Americans, but later the Navy announced that four of the passengers were Filipino repairmen employed by the Navy in the Philippines.

The plane, a twin-engine prop-driven C-2A Greyhound, was on its way back to its base at the Cubi Point Naval Air Station in the Philippines with six passengers and four crewmen. It was delivering mail and personnel from ship to shore and "went down shortly after normal catapult launch," the Navy said.

Ships and helicopters of the carrier task force in the Tonkin gulf were making an extensive search.

Meanwhile, South Vietnamese headquarters reported two grenades ripped through a crowd praying in a Buddhist temple in the Mekong Delta Monday night, killing 17 Vietnamese and wounding 87.

The government said Viet

Cong terrorists hurled two grenades into the temple at Long Trung, 44 miles southwest of Saigon. But officers in the field said they were still investigating.

The government also blamed the Viet Cong for the grenade explosion Sunday night 65 miles southwest of Saigon. But officers in the field said that grenade apparently slipped off the belt of a South Vietnamese soldier who was drunk. The soldier was killed.

The U.S. Command belatedly disclosed two incidents last Saturday in which seven Americans were killed and two wounded.

In one, an eight-man infantry

patrol got into an old American mine field just south of the demilitarized zone in the dark Saturday night, and six of the men were killed and the other two wounded. The patrol was from the 1st Brigade, 5th Mechanized Infantry Division.

On Saturday morning, an Air Force F4 Phantom fighter-bomber was hit by ground fire over the Plain of Jars in Laos.

Informed sources told AP Correspondent Michael Putzel that the canopy of the plane flew off, one of the two crewmen parachuted into the jungle, and enemy troops killed him. They said the other flier flew the plane back to a base in Thailand and landed unhurt.

Both incidents delayed the Louisiana offshore lease sale.

Today's sale was ordered to proceed on schedule despite a new offshore platform fire burning 10 miles off the coast south of New Orleans since Dec. 1.

"The thinking is that you don't ban automobiles just because there is a collision," an Interior Department spokesman said in Washington. "We knew accidents would happen."

The decision was backed by an Interior Department public hearing which reported "leasing and development should continue if the United States is to avert a major national energy crisis and make progress toward retarding air pollution."

Natural gas wells predominate in the western half of Louisiana's offshore oil area—a factor which contributed to the decision to resume leasing, since gas wells have few pollution problems.

As owner of 119 tracts, the federal government gets the lease money they bring in. Eight tracts lie in a region where the state also claims ownership and who gets the money will be decided in court.

The government owner also draws royalties on one sixth of well production. The leases are for as long as the wells produce.

Most of the lease area is south of Cameron, La., a small town near the Texas border.

Draft Numbers Up To 100 Set For Callup

WASHINGTON (AP) — Men in the 1971 draft pool with numbers of 100 or below will be eligible for the January draft call, the Selective Service has announced.

The Pentagon Saturday announced it would call 17,000 men in January.

The Selective Service says 100 will probably be the top draft number for several months. The highest number selected for 1970 was 195, and many boards never approached it.

Not affected by the first 100 priority are the "extended priority" group members. The extended group is eligible for the first three months of the year and must be called ahead of the 1971 pool.

Energy Crisis Overrides Pollution Fears

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Interior Department opens bids today in an offshore oil lease sale delayed two years by concern over pollution from oil wells drilled in the sea bottom.

Petroleum companies hoping to develop rich offshore oil and gas fields have turned in bids on 127 tracts off Louisiana's western coast, some of them 115 miles from land in water 500 feet deep.

Estimates of how much the sale will put in federal coffers have ranged from $200 million, based on the tight money situation, to $1 billion.

The department's decisions on which bids will be accepted on the tracts, scattered over 1,500 square miles of the Gulf of Mexico, will be announced Wednesday.

All the tracts up for lease were "nominated" by oil companies after seismic testing.

The sale is the first involving new offshore leases since public reaction to massive oil pollution involved in offshore accidents over the past two years.

First came the 1969 oil well leak that fouled Santa Barbara beaches in California. Then wells on a platform in the Gulf caught fire last February and gushed thousands of barrels of oil into the sea before they were capped in March.

Both incidents delayed the Louisiana offshore lease sale.

Today's sale was ordered to proceed on schedule despite a new offshore platform fire burning 10 miles off the coast south of New Orleans since Dec. 1.

Bloodmobile To Make Final 1970 Visit

The final Red Cross Bloodmobile visit to Pickaway County will be made Thursday in Circleville. The Bloodmobile will be at Community United Methodist Church 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Collections at the last two visits were less than 75 per cent of quota. In order to have complete coverage of all blood needs for county residents and members of their families, collections must be 90 per cent of quota.

To regain the 90 per cent level, 154 pints must be collected Thursday. Anything less could result in curtailment of blood benefits for residents.

With the Christmas holidays season approaching, the need for blood increases as thousands take to the highways. Christmas is a time for giving. Blood Program officials reminded donors. "What better gift can there be to give than the gift of life itself — the gift money can't buy."

As hour of your time and a pint of blood you'll never miss will help someone live.

Two county residents, Wes Edstrom Jr. and Max Marshall, are scheduled for heart surgery in January and will each require 15-20 pints of blood.

Anyone wishing to donate blood in their behalf may do so at the Bloodmobile visit Thursday.

Traffic Toll In Decline

WASHINGTON (AP) — In part because cars are safer, the nation's highway death toll will drop by 1,100 in 1970 and perhaps by 3,900 next year, says the government's auto safety chief.

"We're seeing the first significant drop in traffic fatalities since 1957," said Douglas W. Toms, director of the Transportation Department's national highway safety bureau. "Several factors account for it, and auto improvements appear to be a major one."

Government statistics for the first eleven months and estimates for December place the 1970 death toll at 55,300, two per cent less than 1969, Toms said in an interview.

Why the drop when Americans are driving more miles each year at higher speeds?

"Better roads, tougher driver licensing, programs aimed at curbing the alcoholic driver, and better driving habits are part of it," Toms said, "but safer equipment has a definite effect."

They could get the death penalty in the mutiny charge.

The ship and the rest of its crew were released and completed the voyage to Thailand. McKay got away from a Cambodian guard in a Phnom Penh restaurant in October and disappeared with an American deserter from Thailand. Glatowski said that he believed they were headed for the town of Sin Rap to join Communist forces fighting in Cambodia.

Glatowski said two days ago that he was thinking of doing the same thing himself because "it's either that or stay here and rot."

Glatowski and McKay were kept on a prison boat on the Mekong River for a few weeks after the hijacking. They complained about the conditions there and were put in the servants' quarters of a government guest house in Phnom Penh and then in a hotel.

With the economy looming as a major issue in the 1972 presidential campaign, Nixon complied announcement of Connally's appointment Monday with a call for a bipartisan approach to the nation's economic troubles.

A conservative Democrat and three-time governor of Texas, Connally brings a political and legal background to the Treasury job, normally filled by bankers, and gives the administration a stronger voice in dealing with Congress.

David M. Kennedy, the 65-year-old Chicago banker who held the Treasury post for two years, resigned effective Feb. 1 to make room for Connally. Nixon named Kennedy an ambassador-at-large in the State Department, with Cabinet seat and responsibility in international finance.

Administration sources said Connally, secretary of the Navy under former President John F. Kennedy, will be counted on to use his political talents in sell-

Ferry Sinks; 250 Koreans Believed Dead

SEOUL (AP) — More than 250 South Koreans were feared drowned today in the sinking of a ferryboat in the Korean Strait.

The Namyung Ho, with 256 passengers and 20 crewmen aboard, went down on its 14-hour run between Cheju Island, south of the Korean peninsula, and the southern Korean port of Pusan.

Japanese ships picked up eight survivors, and a Korean police patrol boat picked up three others. A Korean fishing vessel reported picking up a 12th survivor who was taken to a hospital in Pusan.

A Korean police plane reportedly sighted two persons clinging to debris, and a Korean police officer who flew over the area said he saw oil slicks and floating wood.

Maritime authorities said they feared most of the boat's occupants had perished, however, because the rescue operation was delayed and the weather was very cold.

Transportation Ministry officials said they believed the boat sank because she was overloaded. In addition to the 276 persons aboard, they said, the 263-ton vessel carried about 250 tons of cargo.

Police said a preliminary investigation indicated that the ship had also left Cheju Island without the skipper aboard.

The ferry went down between 1:30 and 8 a.m., but Korean authorities were not aware of the sinking until around noon, when they heard news dispatches from Japan quoting Japan's Maritime Safety Agency. The agency's office in Kitakyushu, southern Japan, said it learned of the sinking from radio messages from other ships in the area.

Police said the ferry passengers included many merchants on their way to Pusan and some tourists returning to the mainland. Korean naval authorities said the weather was very calm, with only two-foot waves. The water was some 250 feet deep where the boat went down.

House Votes On Money For SST

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate critics of the supersonic transport revised their strategy today as the House prepared to vote on a scaled-down appropriation for the 1,800-mile-an-hour passenger plane.

House approval of a compromise $210 million for SST development was expected by about the same margin as the 213-174 vote last week for a full $290 million.

The vote had been scheduled Monday, but was set back a day because House members had to leave for a White House reception.

The Senate, which rejected any funds for the SST two weeks ago, is not expected to vote on the compromise before Wednesday.

Meanwhile, the two Wisconsin Democrats who led the 52-41 Senate defeat of the original measure offered a proposal to assure quick consideration of the $2.6-billion transportation bill, which includes the SST, by separating the proposal from the supersonic plane provision.

Sens. William Proxmire and Gaylord Nelson said they would be happy to let the main bill go through this month and vote on the SST money when the new Congress convenes in January.

Their move was believed prompted by the fear some anti-SST votes may be lost in the Senate as concerns grow that time may run out on the major money package for highways, mass transit and other transportation programs.

U.S. Navy Courier Plane Crash Off Vietnam Kills 10

SAIGON (AP) — A U.S. Navy courier plane crashed today shortly after it was launched from the carrier Ranger in the Tonkin gulf, and the six Americans and four Filipinos aboard were feared killed.

A spokesman said two bodies had been recovered, and there were no signs of survivors.

First reports said all aboard were Americans, but later the Navy announced that four of the passengers were Filipino repairmen employed by the Navy in the Philippines.

The plane, a twin-engine prop-driven C-2A Greyhound, was on its way back to its base at the Cubi Point Naval Air Station in the Philippines with six passengers and four crewmen. It was delivering mail and personnel from ship to shore and "went down shortly after normal catapult launch," the Navy said.

Ships and helicopters of the carrier task force in the Tonkin gulf were making an extensive search.

Meanwhile, South Vietnamese headquarters reported two grenades ripped through a crowd praying in a Buddhist temple in the Mekong Delta Monday night, killing 17 Vietnamese and wounding 87.

Glow In Sky Said Rocket Testing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A dull red glow seen on the eastern horizon by many Ohioans shortly before dawn today apparently resulted from rocket tests last night and early this morning over Wallops Island, Va.

The Columbus station of the weather service reported numerous calls from throughout the state.

According to the weather service, the rocket testing began at 9 p.m. Monday and continued until 5 a.m. today. Rockets were fired 125 miles high where clouds of luminous chemicals were released.

Cong terrorists hurled two grenades into the temple at Long Trung, 44 miles southwest of Saigon. But officers in the field said they were still investigating.

The government also blamed the Viet Cong for the grenade explosion Sunday night 65 miles southwest of Saigon. But officers in the field said that grenade apparently slipped off the belt of a South Vietnamese soldier who was drunk. The soldier was killed.

The U.S. Command belatedly disclosed two incidents last Saturday in which seven Americans were killed and two wounded.

In one, an eight-man infantry

patrol got into an old American mine field just south of the demilitarized zone in the dark Saturday night, and six of the men were killed and the other two wounded. The patrol was from the 1st Brigade, 5th Mechanized Infantry Division.

On Saturday morning, an Air Force F4 Phantom fighter-bomber was hit by ground fire over the Plain of Jars in Laos.

Informed sources told AP Correspondent Michael Putzel that the canopy of the plane flew off, one of the two crewmen parachuted into the jungle, and enemy troops killed him. They said the other flier flew the plane back to a base in Thailand and landed unhurt.

Air Crash Hearing Held

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — Federal hearings into the 75-death Marshall University plane crash went into their second day today.

In testimony before the National Transportation Safety Board, an airport engineer has said landowners of a tree-covered ridge near Tri-State Airport have on several occasions refused permission to cut the tall oak and poplar trees.

The crash of the charter Southern Airways DC9 occurred in a combination of rain, fog and smoke. The air traffic controller on duty at the time of the crash testified that although weather observers had estimated visibility at five miles, he could not see the plane when it reportedly crossed the outer marker less than four miles away.

W.E. Stiltner, who has worked at Tri-State 10 years, also said Monday he had seen visibility change from good to bad at the airport "within three or four minutes."

The plane crashed into a hillside, killing most of the Marshall football team, coaching staff, fans and the crew.

Energy Crisis Overrides Pollution Fears

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Interior Department opens bids today in an offshore oil lease sale delayed two years by concern over pollution from oil wells drilled in the sea bottom.

Petroleum companies hoping to develop rich offshore oil and gas fields have turned in bids on 127 tracts off Louisiana's western coast, some of them 115 miles from land in water 500 feet deep.

Estimates of how much the sale will put in federal coffers have ranged from $200 million, based on the tight money situation, to $1 billion.

The department's decisions on which bids will be accepted on the tracts, scattered over 1,500 square miles of the Gulf of Mexico, will be announced Wednesday.

All the tracts up for lease were "nominated" by oil companies after seismic testing.

The sale is the first involving new offshore leases since public reaction to massive oil pollution involved in offshore accidents over the past two years.

First came the 1969 oil well leak that fouled Santa Barbara beaches in California. Then wells on a platform in the Gulf caught fire last February and gushed thousands of barrels of oil into the sea before they were capped in March.

Both incidents delayed the Louisiana offshore lease sale.

Today's sale was ordered to proceed on schedule despite a new offshore platform fire burning 10 miles off the coast south of New Orleans since Dec. 1.

"The thinking is that you don't ban automobiles just because there is a collision," an Interior Department spokesman said in Washington. "We knew accidents would happen."

The decision was backed by an Interior Department public hearing which reported "leaving and development should continue if the United States is to avert a major national energy crisis and make progress toward retarding air pollution."

Natural gas wells predominate in the western half of Louisiana's offshore oil area—a factor which contributed to the decision to resume leasing, since gas wells have few pollution problems.

As owner of 119 tracts, the federal government gets the lease money they bring in. Eight tracts lie in a region where the state also claims ownership and who gets the money will be decided in court.

The government owner also draws royalties on one sixth of well production. The leases are for as long as the wells produce.

Most of the lease area is south of Cameron, La., a small town near the Texas border.

Draft Numbers Up To 100 Set For Callup

WASHINGTON (AP) — Men in the 1971 draft pool with numbers of 100 or below will be eligible for the January draft call, the Selective Service has announced.

The Pentagon Saturday announced it would call 17,000 men in January.

The Selective Service says 100 will probably be the top draft number for several months. The highest number selected for 1970 was 195, and many boards never approached it.

Not affected by the first 100 priority are the "extended priority" group members. The extended group is eligible for the first three months of the year and must be called ahead of the 1971 pool.

Safecrackers Hit Saltcreek School

Safecrackers struck at Saltcreek Township school and made off with $399.69 in cash and left $335 damage in their wake.

Entrance was made through the boy's room sometime between 5:45 p.m. Monday and 6:30 a.m. Tuesday.

They searched the rooms, pried open a vending machine and peeled the door on the safe to get the money.

Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff John Bost is investigating the theft.

Local Youth Hurt In Hunting Accident

Theodore Mogan, 19, Route 4, was treated at Berger Hospital Monday for an accidental gunshot wound suffered while hunting.

He was hunting on the William Good farm on the Circleville - Turlington-Northern with David Owens, Route 2, and Frank Good, Route 4, when the mishap occurred.

Owens gun accidentally discharged and the pellets struck Mogan in the legs, hip and feet.

Connally ... WHS Sets First Dress Code; TV Debates Funds

Financial community reacted favorably to Connally's appointment.

New York banker Gabriel Hauge, once mentioned as a possible Kennedy successor, said he doesn't think the appointment indicates any change in administration fiscal and monetary policies.

With economic policymaking largely centered in the White House, the Treasury job has become mainly a figurehead position under Nixon.

But the post can be important in relations with Congress, and in improving the administration's economic image.

Sen. Tower said Connally is "philosophically attuned" to the President and "singularly qualified for this post."

Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., chairman of the House Banking Committee, said he hopes Connally "will face forthrightly the need to use moral suasion to require big banks and big business to operate in the public interest."

"At a minimum," Patman added, "I hope that the appointee, who is a close associate of former President Johnson, will put an end to Nixon administration efforts to blame prior administrations for the nation's economic ills."

During the 1970 elections, the Nixon administration blamed the nation's economic troubles on past policies of the Democrats.

With unemployment high and inflation continuing, Democrats effectively used the economy issue in several states.

After the election, Kennedy went to Nixon and offered himself as a scapegoat for the failure of the economy and its impact on the election.

Nixon replied he had no one else in mind for the post, a Treasury spokesman said, and Kennedy left for an 11-day European tour while White House sources leaked out the word he would be the next Cabinet member to go.

Westfall's Board of Education met Monday evening and adopted the first formal dress code for the school. At Teays Valley's meeting last week, members discussed possible action for the district in 1971 since the 4-mill operating levy suffered its third defeat at the polls.

The move toward the school dress code was the first action the Westfall board has ever taken in this matter. Students' dress up to this time was an unwritten policy set by the administration. The new code was adopted solely for high school. None of the elementary schools in the district will be affected by the policy.

Westfall Principal Roger Beck noted that it had been and will continue to be understood that each student should dress in good taste at all times. With the wide range of attire on the market today, a committee of students selected from the school helped write the following code which was adopted last night.

Boys dress forbids army jackets or other attire with writing on it sandals, heel plates, or T-shirts without a pocket. Hair must be kept out of the eyes, off the shirt collar and be clean and well kept. Sideburns are not to be excessively long.

Shirts must be buttoned except for the one at the neck. Shirt tails must be worn inside trousers unless knit or straight-bottomed. Bell bottom trousers were termed acceptable. Belts must be worn with all pants designed for them and no boys will be permitted to go without socks.

Rules accepted for the girls list pants, skirts or culottes as appropriate attire but ban skater skirts, slacks, shorts, swimwear or pants suits during regular school hour. Slack and list pants skirts or culottes as sporting events.

Clothing should fit the wearer — it should not be too tight, too short or of sheer fabrics. T-shirts, sweatshirts, tank-tops, bra dresses are not considered appropriate wear. Low-cut necklines are considered offensive.

No army or service jacket or jackets with writing on them should be worn in school. Long-tailed blouses must be tucked in the skirt.

Acceptable footwear does not include sandals, which were termed unsafe, or those with heel plates. Stockings or hose were recommended for girls' daily wear.

Girls' hair should be clean but free of rollers, clips and curlers. Appropriate hair accessories may be worn.

Roundtown

Legislators are devoting their time this week to reviewing money requests for 1971 of the various departments of county government.

Busy as they are, however, they plan to take time off Thursday to donate blood at the final 1970 visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile to Pickaway County. The county is below its quota.

ROUND TOWN received a letter from Sandy Lemaster today.

Supreme Court Takes Tougher Stand On Crime

WASHINGTON (AP) — Helped by Harry Blackmun, the newest justice, the Supreme Court took a tougher stand today on the rights of defendants in state criminal trials.

In a 5-4 ruling, the court upheld the murder conviction of a Georgia man even though he did not have a chance to cross-examine an alleged co-conspirator whose testimony linked him to the crime.

The decision split the justices along conservative-liberal lines and indicated that Blackmun's elevation to the bench by President Nixon produced a conservative majority.

The four dissenters, left over the old liberal majority of the Warren court that produced 5-4 rulings going the other way, complained that the decision is "completely inconsistent with recent opinions of this court."

In other action, members approved the employment of Paul R. Will as custodian at Williamsport school. He replaces former custodian Charles Smith who recently resigned.

January 4 was the date set for the board's annual organizational meeting for 1971, beginning at 7:30 p.m. Members attending will be Board President Troy McPherson, Richard Redman, Mrs. Shirley Bowser, Eugene Bush and Mrs. Jeanne Lett.

Board activity on the operating levy sought by Teays Valley was limited to discussion Wednesday evening when members assembled for their December meeting. A check will be made of funds and the school district's standing as of Dec. 31 in addition to a reevaluation of classrooms before any further steps will be made.

Superintendent Benis Lutz noted that the levy would again come before the voters, but could not say when.

A substitute teacher was employed to replace Vivian Noecker from Jan. 4 to Mar. 19. Mrs. Noecker was employed on a temporary certificate pending completion of her studies. She must now do her student teaching in order to complete her work for her degree. Hired to replace her was Sue Steele.

Gary Southers and Roy Sprouse were hired as hourly custodial employees for the high school and Scioto School. A contract was approved to transport an elementary student from Lockbourne Lodge to Holy Family School in the Hamilton Local School District.

Teays Valley members also selected Jan. 4 for their organizational meeting. They will meet 8 p.m. in the superintendent's office.

Members attending the session were President Everett Beers, Harold Peters, Mrs. Esther Duvall, William Hinkle, William Winter and Jack Warner.

Intoxicated Driver Charged In Mishap
Charges of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated were filed against a 24-year-old Williamsport man as the result of a one-car non-injury accident at 11:40 p.m. Monday on Route 316 in Harrison Township.

James Leo Williams was cited by Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Don Thompson after his car left the road and struck a fence.

Non-Union Hiring Set In Strike

CINCINNATI (AP) — Chemical union officials threatened fines of $25 per day for any member going back to work at the struck Hilton-Davis Chemical Co. Monday and company officials said they were swamped with non-union applicants.

The firm advertised in newspapers that 500 jobs were available after the union rejected the company's "final offer" Sunday.

About 600 of the 1,100 employees went on strike June 8. William Peyton, president of Local 342, said he knew of only one union member who crossed the picket line.

John W. Dav's, industrial relations director of Hilton-Davis, said the advertisements had been directed at the strikers, but said he had received more than 200 applicants to fill the jobs from outside the union membership.

One applicant complained to police Monday night that the tires on his car had been slashed while he was inside the plant. Two women employees said they were threatened by a man with a shotgun.

Intoxicated Driver Charged In Mishap
Charges of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated were filed against a 24-year-old Williamsport man as the result of a one-car non-injury accident at 11:40 p.m. Monday on Route 316 in Harrison Township.

James Leo Williams was cited by Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Don Thompson after his car left the road and struck a fence.

Non-Union Hiring Set In Strike

CINCINNATI (AP) — Chemical union officials threatened fines of $25 per day for any member going back to work at the struck Hilton-Davis Chemical Co. Monday and company officials said they were swamped with non-union applicants.

The firm advertised in newspapers that 500 jobs were available after the union rejected the company's "final offer" Sunday.

About 600 of the 1,100 employees went on strike June 8. William Peyton, president of Local 342, said he knew of only one union member who crossed the picket line.

nancial community reacted favorably to Connally's appointment.

New York banker Gabriel Hauge, once mentioned as a possible Kennedy successor, said he doesn't think the appointment indicates any change in administration fiscal and monetary policies.

With economic policymaking largely centered in the White House, the Treasury job has become mainly a figurehead position under Nixon.

But the post can be important in relations with Congress, and in improving the administration's economic image.

Sen. Tower said Connally is "philosophically attuned" to the President and "singularly qualified for this post."

Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., chairman of the House Banking Committee, said he hopes Connally "will face forthrightly the need to use moral suasion to require big banks and big business to operate in the public interest."

"At a minimum," Patman added, "I hope that the appointee, who is a close associate of former President Johnson, will put an end to Nixon administration efforts to blame prior administrations for the nation's economic ills."

During the 1970 elections, the Nixon administration blamed the nation's economic troubles on past policies of the Democrats.

With unemployment high and inflation continuing, Democrats effectively used the economy issue in several states.

After the election, Kennedy went to Nixon and offered himself as a scapegoat for the failure of the economy and its impact on the election.

Nixon replied he had no one else in mind for the post, a Treasury spokesman said, and Kennedy left for an 11-day European tour while White House sources leaked out the word he would be the next Cabinet member to go.

Aide Saw Hughes Sign Proxy Paper

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — One of the few men admitted to Howard Hughes' presence in recent years says he saw the billionaire reclusive sign a paper later used to authorize firing of the man who ran the vast Hughes holdings in Nevada.

One handwriting expert told a judge Monday the signature was genuine. A second described it as a fake.

The man who said he watched while Hughes wielded the pen was LeVar Myler. He said he was one of five male special assistants working in shifts in the closely guarded Hughes office, had known his boss for 20 years and had seen him daily for the past five.

Myler, a heavy, round-faced man, testified he saw Hughes sign the document Nov. 14 in a bedroom of the three-room penthouse apartment where he lived atop a hotel on the Las Vegas Strip. The document was a proxy granting the general counsel and two directors of the Hughes Tool Co. power to act for their boss.

Myler told newsmen after his court appearance he was with Hughes at the Britannia Hotel in the Bahamas until a week ago and that his chief's well and considerably irritated by the publicity surrounding the dismissal of Robert Maheu.

The tool company forces moved in Dec. 4 after Hughes left town — and fired Maheu, saying the proxy gave them the necessary authority. Maheu resisted and obtained a court order blocking their takeover. Monday was the sixth day of a hearing on a tool company motion to quash the restraining order.

Stock List Takes Dip

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market, resisting strong pressure from profit taking, erased some of its early-session losses today as trading slowed a bit.

At noon, the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 3.36 to 819.82. Earlier the Dow had been off more than 5 points. Declines still held a commanding lead of about 2 to 1 over advances among the issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said the market was performing well and that while a period of adjustment was normal, the market's resistance to that consolidation indicated it was on solid foundations.

Glamours were among the losers under heavy pressure. Memorex was down 2 1/2 to 7 1/2, Telex was off 1 1/4 at 18, Xerox was off 1/4 at 86 1/2. Control data was off 1/4 at 86 1/2, Polaroid was down 1/4 to 31 1/4, and IBM was down 1/4 to 310 1/4.

The Associated Press stock average was off .9 to 277.1 at noon.

Westfall's Board of Education met Monday evening and adopted the first formal dress code for the school. At Teays Valley's meeting last week, members discussed possible action for the district in 1971 since the 4-mill operating levy suffered its third defeat at the polls.

The move toward the school dress code was the first action the Westfall board has ever taken in this matter. Students' dress up to this time was an unwritten policy set by the administration. The new code was adopted solely for high school. None of the elementary schools in the district will be affected by the policy.

Westfall Principal Roger Beck noted that it had been and will continue to be understood that each student should dress in good taste at all times. With the wide range of attire on the market today, a committee of students selected from the school helped write the following code which was adopted last night.

Boys dress forbids army jackets or other attire with writing on it sandals, heel plates, or T-shirts without a pocket. Hair must be kept out of the eyes, off the shirt collar and be clean and well kept. Sideburns are not to be excessively long.

Shirts must be buttoned except for the one at the neck. Shirt tails must be worn inside trousers unless knit or straight-bottomed. Bell bottom trousers were termed acceptable. Belts must be worn with all pants designed for them and no boys will be permitted to go without socks.

Rules accepted for the girls list pants, skirts or culottes as appropriate attire but ban skater skirts, slacks, shorts, swimwear or pants suits during regular school hour. Slacks and list pant skirts or culottes as sporting events.

Clothing should fit the wearer — it should not be too tight, too short or of sheer fabrics. T-shirts, sweatshirts, tank-top, bra dresses are not considered appropriate wear. Low-cut necklines are considered offensive.

No army or service jacket or jackets with writing on them should be worn in school. Long-tailed blouses must be tucked in the skirt.

Acceptable footwear does not include sandals, which were termed unsafe, or those with heel plates. Stockings or hose were recommended for girls' daily wear.

Girls hair should be clean but free of rollers, clips and curlers. Appropriate hair accessories may be worn.

Supreme Court Takes Tougher Stand On Crime

WASHINGTON (AP) — Helped by Harry Blackmun, the newest justice, the Supreme Court took a tougher stand today on the rights of defendants in state criminal trials.

In a 5-4 ruling, the court upheld the murder conviction of a Georgia man even though he did not have a chance to cross-examine an alleged co-conspirator whose testimony linked him to the crime.

The decision split the justices along conservative-liberal lines and indicated that Blackmun's elevation to the bench by President Nixon produced a conservative majority.

The four dissenters, left over the old liberal majority of the Warren court that produced 5-4 rulings going the other way, complained that the decision is "completely inconsistent with recent opinions of this court."

In other action, members approved the employment of Paul R. Will as custodian at Williamsport school. He replaces former custodian Charles Smith who recently resigned.

January 4 was the date set for the board's annual organizational meeting for 1971, beginning at 7:30 p.m. Members attending will be Board President Troy McPherson, Richard Redman, Mrs. Shirley Bowser, Eugene Bush and Mrs. Jeanne Lett.

Board activity on the operating levy sought by Teays Valley was limited to discussion Wednesday evening when members assembled for their December meeting. A check will be made of funds and the school district's standing as of Dec. 31 in addition to a reevaluation of classrooms before any further steps will be made. Superintendent Benis Lutz noted that the levy would again come before the voters, but could not say when.

A substitute teacher was employed to replace Vivian Noecker from Jan. 4 to Mar. 19. Mrs. Noecker was employed on a temporary certificate pending completion of her studies. She must now do her student teaching in order to complete her work for her degree. Hired to replace her was Sue Steele.

Gary Southers and Roy Sprouse were hired as hourly custodial employees for the high school and Scioto School. A contract was approved to transport an elementary student from Lockbourne Lodge to Holy Family School in the Hamilton Local School District.

Ohio Education Board Urges Mandated State Income Tax

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Board of Education proposed Monday that changes in the Ohio tax structure should include a new mandated income tax and a standard countrywide or statewide tax base.

The tax proposals were part of recommendations to Gov.-elect John J. Gilligan and the 109th General Assembly, which convenes Jan. 4.

The report said, "Changes in Ohio tax structures should include a new mandated income-related tax to ensure that revenues will increase with growth in the economy."

The report suggested funds from the new tax should be used for equalization of school districts through the school Foundation Program.

"Another consideration," the report said, "should be standard countrywide or statewide tax base, which would more nearly equalize the differences between local educational needs and ability to pay."

The report added that a taxing structure which reflects the present economy should shift some of the burden away from the local property tax.

The board approved a recommendation by Supt. of Public Instruction Marlin Essex that it encourage aerospace education in schools throughout the state.

Essex offered the program as an "anti-dropout tool" which he said, would provide a challenge many young people need.

One board recommendation urged clarification of student rights and responsibilities and student dress, behavior, use of school property and publications.

The board agreed to allocate $1.8 million in construction funds for the New Thomas A. Edison School in Cleveland and $301,000 to the Muskingum Area Joint Vocational School in Muskingum County.

Griffin Urges New Action To Free POWs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert P. Griffin, the Senate's No. 2 Republican leader, today urged the release of all sick and wounded enemy prisoners of war as well as 1,500 able-bodied captured North Vietnamese troops in hopes of securing freedom for American POWs.

"Such a dramatic, humanitarian initiative would create, worldwide, and expectation of response in kind by the Communist side," said the Michigan Republican.

Griffin said he expects the proposal to receive a sympathetic response from the Nixon administration, but emphasized he was making the proposal as a senator—not as assistant Republican leader.

"I would suggest that the prisoners be released well before Tet, the Vietnamese New Year, which comes at the end of January," he said.

Griffin conferred last month with Mai Van Bo of the North Vietnamese Paris delegation in an effort to secure better treatment of American POWs and a list of their names. However, he said he has received no response from Bo.

About 1,500 men are listed as missing in action in Southeast Asia. Pentagon officials say 459 Americans are believed held captive by the North Vietnamese.

The South Vietnamese hold an estimated 8,200 North Vietnamese prisoners.

Griffin said the United States "should ask an impartial organization, like the International Red Cross, to interview the North Vietnamese and determine which men wish to return."

"I do not advocate forced repatriation," he said.

Rush Revision Of Jury System

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Two bills will be introduced in the 109th General Assembly calling for revision of the jury system in Ohio.

Rep. John A. Galbraith, R-76 Maumee, said he will offer a measure that would allow six-member juries in all but capital punishment cases. He said he also will sponsor a bill that would eliminate unanimous verdicts in criminal cases, except capital punishment.

"I've talked to several judges and attorneys who like the idea," he said. "It would be a time saver and a money saver for the courts."

Under present Ohio law, 12-member juries are required unless a jury trial is waived. Some courts now permit six-member juries in civil cases if both parties agree.

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — American and Soviet medical researchers, working independently, have developed a promising, experimental one-shot vaccine against common measles, mumps and German measles.

Early trials in children indicate the triple-action injection—consisting of a special mixture of vaccines previously available against each of the diseases—is both safe and potentially effective, scientists from the two countries reported today.

Soviet researchers A.A. Smorodintsev and M.N. Nasibov, of the Leningrad Pasteur Institute, and Dr. Maurice Hilleman, an American scientist, told about the developments in separate reports prepared for an international conference on vaccines.

The conference is sponsored by the Pan American Health Organization and the World Health Organization.

The Soviet scientists said in their report, "The use of such vaccines might provide a safe basis for limiting and eradicating all these very hazardous and contagious infections."

Hilleman, of the Merck Institute for Therapeutic Research, West Point, Pa., made only brief reference to the American-developed, triple-action vaccine, in a talk Monday on a more general subject.

"Prime attention is now being given to combined live-virus vaccines, and it is of importance that bivalent (double-action) or trivalent (triple-action) combinations of measles, mumps and rubella (German measles) vaccines may be given safely in a single dose without increased clinical reaction and without apparent suppression of the immune response," Hilleman said.

Hilleman is scheduled to give a detailed report later this week on initial trials of the American-developed vaccine.

In another report prepared for the conference, Dr. John J. Witte of the Public Health Service's Communicable Disease Center, Atlanta, Ga., said the continuous decline of common measles that began with the advent of vaccine in 1963 leveled off in 1969.

"In 1970, the number of reported cases was more than double the number noted in 1969," he added.

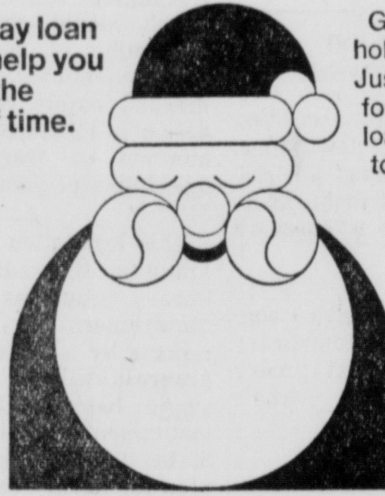

He attributed the resurgence, in large part, to federal support for measles vaccination programs being "severely hampered" by the expiration of the governments Vaccination Assistance Act in 1968.

Ohio Education Board Urges Mandated State Income Tax

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Board of Education proposed Monday that changes in the Ohio tax structure should include a new mandated income tax and a standard countrywide or statewide tax base.

The tax proposals were part of recommendations to Gov.-elect John J. Gilligan and the 109th General Assembly, which convenes Jan. 4.

The report said, "Changes in Ohio tax structures should include a new mandated income-related tax to ensure that revenues will increase with growth in the economy."

The report suggested funds from the new tax should be used for equalization of school districts through the school Foundation Program.

"Another consideration," the report said, "should be standard countrywide or statewide tax base, which would more nearly equalize the differences between local educational needs and ability to pay."

The report added that a taxing structure which reflects the present economy should shift some of the burden away from the local property tax.

The board approved a recommendation by Supt. of Public Instruction Martin Essex that it encourage aerospace education in schools throughout the state.

Essex offered the program as an "anti-dropout tool" which he said, would provide a challenge many young people need.

One board recommendation urged clarification of student rights and responsibilities and student dress, behavior, use of school property and publications.

The board agreed to allocate $1.8 million in construction funds for the New Thomas A. Edison School in Cleveland and $301,000 to the Muskingum Area Joint Vocational School in Muskingum County.

Griffin Urges New Action To Free POWs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert P. Griffin, the Senate's No. 2 Republican leader, today urged the release of all sick and wounded enemy prisoners of war as well as 1,500 able-bodied captured North Vietnamese troops in hopes of securing freedom for American POWs.

"Such a dramatic, humanitarian initiative would create, worldwide, and expectation of response in kind by the Communist side," said the Michigan Republican.

Griffin said he expects the proposal to receive a sympathetic response from the Nixon administration, but emphasized he was making the proposal as a senator—not as assistant Republican leader.

"I would suggest that the prisoners be released well before Tet, the Vietnamese New Year, which comes at the end of January," he said.

Griffin conferred last month with Mai Van Bo of the North Vietnamese Paris delegation in an effort to secure better treatment of American POWs and a list of their names. However, he said he has received no response from Bo.

About 1,500 men are listed as missing in action in Southeast Asia. Pentagon officials say 459 Americans are believed held captive by the North Vietnamese.

The South Vietnamese hold an estimated 8,200 North Vietnamese prisoners.

Griffin said the United States "should ask an impartial organization, like the International Red Cross, to interview the North Vietnamese and determine which men wish to return."

"I do not advocate forced repatriation," he said.

Rush Revision Of Jury System

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Two bills will be introduced in the 109th General Assembly calling for revision of the jury system in Ohio.

Rep. John A. Galbraith, R-76 Maumee, said he will offer a measure that would allow six-member juries in all but capital punishment cases. He said he also will sponsor a bill that would eliminate unanimous verdicts in criminal cases, except capital punishment.

"I've talked to several judges and attorneys who like the idea," he said. "It would be a time saver and a money saver for the courts."

Under present Ohio law, 12-member juries are required unless a jury trial is waived. Some courts now permit six-member juries in civil cases if both parties agree.

WASHINGTON (AP) — American and Soviet medical researchers, working independently, have developed a promising, experimental one-shot vaccine against common measles, mumps and German measles.

Early trials in children indicate the triple-action injection—consisting of a special mixture of vaccines previously available against each of the diseases—is both safe and potentially effective, scientists from the two countries reported today.

Soviet researchers A.A. Smorodintsev and M.N. Nasibov, of the Leningrad Pasteur Institute, and Dr. Maurice Hilleman, an American scientist, told about the developments in separate reports prepared for an international conference on vaccines.

The conference is sponsored by the Pan American Health Organization and the World Health Organization.

The Soviet scientists said in their report, "The use of such vaccines might provide a safe basis for limiting and eradicating all these very hazardous and contagious infections."

Hilleman, of the Merck Institute for Therapeutic Research, West Point, Pa., made only brief reference to the American-developed, triple-action vaccine, in a talk Monday on a more general subject.

"Prime attention is now being given to combined live-virus

vaccines, and it is of importance that bivalent (double-action) or trivalent (triple-action) combinations of measles, mumps and rubella (German measles) vaccines may be given safely in a single dose without increased clinical reaction and without apparent suppression of the immune response," Hilleman said.

Hilleman is scheduled to give a detailed report later this week on initial trials of the American-developed vaccine. In another report prepared for the conference, Dr. John J. Witte of the Public Health Service's Communicable Disease Center, Atlanta, Ga., said the continuous decline of common measles that began with the advent of vaccine in 1963 leveled off in 1969. "In 1970, the number of reported cases was more than double the number noted in 1969," he added.

He attributed the resurgence, in large part, to federal support for measles-vaccination programs being "severely hampered" by the expiration of the governments Vaccination Assistance Act in 1968.

An Inventing Genius

Rube Goldberg was an inventor who made certain none of his inventions ever worked. They weren't supposed to. Just following the intricate and zany convolutions to their conclusions was the whole point.

As a cartoonist, Goldberg may not have possessed the greatest artistic talent around. But he did introduce a medium of humor never duplicated. So unique was his form of cartoon that in the process he invented a phrase instantly recognizable.

"That looks like a Rube Goldberg contraption," lives on to describe a complicated mechanism which confound the viewer. Yet no device ever built to accomplish some useful task could be called a true Rube Goldberg contraption.

Only if it were powered by a chicken picking corn, employed gears and drive wheels which reversed themselves at each new juncture, incorporated the most outrageous accumulation of junk and wasted motion, and duplicated a mis-programmed computer in its performance — only then could it be credited to Rube Goldberg.

His belly-laughing style of humor may be cornball, but it is missed.

Ulbricht's Dilemma

It is an interesting point that the new rapport between the Warsaw Pact countries and the Bonn government of Willy Brandt, culminating in the Polish-West German treaty recognizing the Oder-Neisse border as a permanent boundary, has been accomplished entirely without the benefit — if that is the word — of any advice from East German communist boss Walter Ulbricht.

Or if, as seems likely, Ulbricht has been voicing his objections within the councils of Warsaw Pact summit meetings, they obviously have been ignored. The idea of cozying up to Bonn certainly is not his idea.

Nor is the pact on trade which Bonn has been negotiating directly with Moscow, and which at the moment is hung up on a guarantee of direct access to Berlin from West Germany. The old Stalinist must be surveying his East German fiefdom with some alarm these days, wondering what is happening to him.

What appears to be happening, either by design or convenience, is that Ulbricht is losing his influence. Whether he loses anything else will be up to his Warsaw Pact comrades.

Foolproof Indicator

Stock market investors and brokerage house employees alike are buoyed by the recent performance of the stock market. For the moment at least, the weary pessimism found in many business reports of only a short while ago have disappeared in a spate of rosy predictions.

There are still ample arguments to support both bulls and bears. But there is still one inescapable rule. When the market booms, investors are happy; when it doesn't, they aren't.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — About 45 million watches will be sold in the United States this year, bringing the 10-year total to nearly 350 million and suggesting that something other than time is on the minds of wrists of buyers.

Quite true. Ladies to whom time is of no essence buy tiny watches in jeweled cases as accessories to their various costumes. Men buy snorkel or diver's watches for the reasons they also buy sports cars. Children buy them because they like Mickey Mouse or Spiro Agnew.

In underdeveloped lands, especially in Asia, the growing demand for watches indicates they are one of the first signs that industrial culture is accepted by people who still prefer to tell time by the sun.

In all, about 159 million watches were made throughout the world last year, and the total this year is expected to be close to that figure. Next year should be even better, of course, as the world remains fascinated by timepieces.

But all is not comfortable in the watch industry and it seldom has been. The record is spattered with tariff fights, intrigue and commercial tragedies, although it also has been enlivened by ingenious marketing and innovations.

In the United States, only one company, Bulova, continues to manufacture jeweled watches domestically, although Longines-Wittnauer assembles high quality units from imported parts.

Some of the biggest names have ceased to exist and, currently, others are experiencing several financial problems. Hamilton lost $4 million in the first nine months of the year. Elgin National is diversifying into other products.

But there is another side to the story. Some of the problems encountered by the makers of expensive jeweled watches, in which hard artificial rubies are placed at friction points, results from the success of pin-lever watches.

The latter use a simple connecting pin where moving parts come together, and so have managed to sell their products for as low as $5 or $6. One company, Timex, is expected to account for no less than one-third of all U.S. sales this year.

But, judging from the names on the gravestones, past success is no criterion of the future, and everyone from one-man Swiss shops to the big mass producers, are closely watching the moves of the Japanese and Russians.

A decade or so ago neither of these nations had watch industries capable of competing internationally, but last year the U.S.S.R. was entrenched in second place and the Japanese in third, making 24 million and 19 million watches respectively. In their advance they dropped the United States, with production of 17.7 million watches, to fourth place and seriously challenged the Swiss in some of their markets.

Although the Swiss remain far ahead, with 71 million units manufactured last year by 1,200 firms, they realize that they could be "tariffed" out of some markets to protect an emerging domestic industry and upshot in others. Competition knows few bounds.

Last summer a Swiss mechanical engineer and a Japanese sales representative were arrested on charges of illegally producing plans for watch-making machines and of stealing tools and materials.

The Japanese, however, hardly need to rely on theft to improve their position, having proved their abilities in a wide range of precision products that includes radios, cameras and automobiles. Few industry officials believe they cannot upset the watch market also.

To do so, however, will require that they be at least as innovative as the Americans and the Swiss. Both countries are now splitting the second into ever smaller parts with tuning fork and quartz watches.

The ordinary jeweled watch oscillates at from 2.5 or 5 times a second, giving off 5 to 10 ticks as it does so. The tuning fork watch vibrates 360 times a second and the incredibly accurate quartz watch at 8,192 times a second.

Flags of member countries at the United Nations headquarters in New York fly in alphabetical order at an equal height in front of the 39-story Secretariat, with the U.N. flag above them. When a nation joins the world body, however, its banner is displayed in a central position above the totem for the first day, the National Geographic Society says.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

A yearly epidemic against which there is no known vaccine is about to descend on us. Fractured arms, legs and ankles will soon bring sophisticated evidence that the ski season is here.

When I said there was no "vaccine" against these expensive, time-consuming injuries I did not include the vaccine of sensible prevention. Most of these injuries are avoidable.

Thousands of enthusiastic skiers rush to the slopes and honestly believe they can take up this year's skiing program where they left off in the spring.

It is unreasonable to expect that muscles, ligaments and joints that have been inactive can immediately be put into condition for the slopes when the first powdery snow appears.

Too often, skiing equipment that has not been used becomes another potential hazard in this exhilarating and exciting sport. A long-healing injury is an expensive one, far greater than the cost of good-fitting boots, good bindings and good skis.

For greater safety, skiers can get into condition with simple, well-regulated exercises in anticipation of skiing. There are many schools and gyms where skiers can actually dry run in ski practice to get themselves in condition.

Obviously, good skiers have far fewer accidents than beginners. The reason is that good skiers know their limitations and carefully observe all the safety rules of skiing. Courtesy on the slopes is an absolute necessity to prevent accidents while horsing around only encourages accidents.

Novices must slowly graduate from one type of slope to another to be sure that they are capable of handling the additional speed and curves.

Another reason for accidents is that all skiers try to squeeze in as many hours on the slopes as possible. Fatigue sets in readily, the reflexes diminish and soon the careless accident occurs.

It is a great mistake to "work out" an injury to the ankle, the wrist or the shoulder. Injuries that seem slight may be overlooked and can lead to complications when it is finally found that a small chip fracture has been neglected.

There is great joy in this exciting sport. There can be greater joy if skiers use their heads as well as their feet.

There is no longer any need to use boric acid in liquid or Undoubtedly the Vietnamese War has been less understood by Americans generally than any previous American war. Try asking several reasonably literate friends not for their visceral reaction to the war but such specific questions as, What are the enemy's goals? and What are the crucial tactical considerations in South Vietnam itself? and What, specifically, have we learned from the conflict about what to do and what not to do in such "wards of liberation"? If you ask such questions of five friends, you will almost certainly receive five different sets of answers.

Now you will notice that such confusion would not have existed, say, in 1944 about World War II, or in 1952 about the Korean War. But this fact, in itself, points to what may be called the cognitive novelty of the Vietnamese War. It is difficult to see — just because it is new experience.

Fortunately, amid the flood of books about the war — their very number is an impediment to the understanding — a book has now appeared that accomplishes in remarkably brief fashion the fundamental work and definition and clarification. I can do you no greater favor than to call it to your attention. It is Sir Robert Thompson's Revolutionary War in World Strategy 1945-1969. (Taplinger).

Sir Robert is, in fact, the West's leading expert on revolutionary insurgency, our General Gap, so to speak, both a practitioner and a theoretician of this kind of warfare. He was one of the architects of the British victory over the Communist insurgency in Malaya; he has since been a close student of such insurgencies elsewhere, particularly in

General Giap

By JEFFERY HART

Three slim, lucid books crystallizing the experience he has had. They form a kind of trilogy. The first, Defeating Communist Insurgency, deals with the Malayan conflict. No Exit From Vietnam discusses the American performance there; Sir Robert was chief of the British Advisory Mission to Vietnam. His critique is detailed and profound and in its conclusions tends to support the present American strategy, though to understand what that strategy actually is, you will have to read the book.

The third small volume, only 171 pages, is a kind of theoretical summa of the first two, and takes as its perspective the many insurgencies of various kinds since the end of World War II. They have produced varied results. Some have lost — Greece, Malaya, the Philippines. Some have ended only in the strategic and political advance of Communist power, as in Algeria. Some have succeeded completely: China, Cuba.

What Sir Robert does is grasp the special nature of such wars, their generic similarities. Thus, they fall into "three distinct phases": building up the party organization within the population; gradually enlarging guerrilla and terrorist operations; "when a point of equilibrium with the government has been reached, in effectiveness rather than numbers, then . . . the whole revolutionary movement goes over to the offensive and is prepared to engage in more open warfare until . . . victory is won."

Sir Robert makes a key distinction between the aim of the party apparatus and the ostensible "cause" for which the war is being waged. The ostensible cause varies; the aim is always the same — the seizure of power and the transformation of the country into a "socialist" state. Sir Robert is the West's leading theoretician and taxonomist of the People's War of Liberation. His latest volume is definitive; in time it will be seen to be the Clausewitz of this new form of warfare.

The House passed a number of bills this week. Among them was a Resolution commending the military personnel involved in the recent expedition seeking to release U.S. prisoners-of-war believed to be held near Hanoi. I believe the courage of the men undertaking this dangerous mission is indisputable, and I supported this resolution in recognition of their valor.

this week which would create a coordinating facility for information on the environment. The lack of available data has been blamed for certain past actions which have resulted in environmental damage. The National Environmental Data System is designed to provide the means by which a proposed policy can be judged for its effect on our environment and to avoid overlapping of efforts.

The animal welfare act would insure that animals which are sold commercially or utilized in exhibits such as zoos and circuses, are provided with the basic creature comforts of food, sanitary shelter, reasonable handling and veterinary care. During debate it was stated that this bill would in no way interfere with scientific research or experimentation but would provide a standard of care.

In the interests of sportsmanlike conduct and conservation, a bill to prohibit the act of shooting or attempting to shoot any animal, including fish and birds, while airborne has been introduced. Reports of bald eagles being flushed and shot from airplanes were mentioned as being an additional reason for passage of this legislation.

The high number of deaths resulting from recreational boating accidents has prompted the House to pass the Federal Boat Safety Act of 1970. This legislation proposes two solutions to this alarming problem. First, the bill would require manufacturers of recreational boats and boating equipment to comply with federal safety standards set by the Coast Guard. Secondly, federal monies would be made available to the states on a matching basis for developing boating safety programs. The number of small boat owners has been rapidly increasing in the past few years. It is hoped that this measure will serve to reduce boating accidents.

The most controversial action taken by the House was the vote to continue funding of the Supersonic Transport Plane. For environmental and economic reasons, I opposed further expenditures until more is known about environmental effects.

One of the most successful programs of cooperation between the federal government and the several States has been in the area of vocational rehabilitation. ly is not his idea.

Nor is the pact on trade which Bonn has been negotiating directly with Moscow, and which at the moment is hung up on a guarantee of direct access to Berlin from West Germany. The old Stalinist must be surveying his East German fiefdom with some alarm these days, wondering what is happening to him.

What appears to be happening, either by design or convenience, is that Ulbricht is losing his influence. Whether he loses anything else will be up to his Warsaw Pact comrades.

Foolproof Indicator

Stock market investors and brokerage house employees alike are buoyed by the recent performance of the stock market. For the moment at least, the weary pessimism found in many business reports of only a short while ago have disappeared in a spate of roseate predictions.

There are still ample arguments to support both bulls and bears. But there is still one inescapable rule. When the market booms, investors are happy; when it doesn't, they aren't.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — About 45 million watches will be sold in the United States this year, bringing the 10-year total to nearly 350 million and suggesting that something other than time is on the minds of wrists of buyers.

Quite true. Ladies to whom time is of no essence buy tiny watches in jeweled cases as accessories to their various costumes. Men buy snorkel or diver's watches for the reasons they also buy sports cars. Children buy them because they like Mickey Mouse or Spiro Agnew.

In underdeveloped lands, especially in Asia, the growing demand for watches indicates they are one of the first signs that industrial culture is accepted by people who still prefer to tell time by the sun.

In all, about 159 million watches were made throughout the world last year, and the total this year is expected to be close to that figure. Next year should be even better, of course, as the world remains fascinated by timepieces.

But all is not comfortable in the watch industry and it seldom has been. The record is spattered with tariff fights, intrigue and commercial tragedies, although it also has been enlivened by ingenious marketing and innovations.

In the United States, only one company, Bulova, continues to manufacture jeweled watches domestically, although Longines-Wittnauer assembles high quality units from imported parts.

Some of the biggest names have ceased to exist and, currently, others are experiencing several financial problems. Hamilton lost $4 million in the first nine months of the year. Elgin National is diversifying into other products.

But there is another side to the story. Some of the problems encountered by the makers of expensive jeweled watches, in which hard artificial rubies are placed at friction points, results from the success of pin-lever watches.

The latter use a simple connecting pin where moving parts come together, and so have managed to sell their products for as low as $5 or $6. One company, Timex, is expected to account for no less than one-third of all U.S. sales this year.

But, judging from the names on the gravestones, past success is no criterion of the future, and everyone from oneman Swiss sops to the big mass producers, are closely watching the moves of the Japanese and Russians.

A decade or so ago neither of these nations had watch industries capable of competing internationally, but last year the U.S.S.R. was entrenched in second place and the Japanese in third, making 24 million and 19 million watches respectively.

In their advance they dropped the United States, with production of 17.7 million watches, to fourth place and seriously challenged the Swiss in some of the "new" markets.

Although the Swiss remain far ahead, with 71 million units manufactured last year by 1,200 firms, they realize that they could be "tariffed" out of some markets to protect an emerging domestic industry and upsid in others. Competition knows few bounds.

Last summer a Swiss mechanical engineer and a Japanese sales representative were arrested on charges of illegally producing plans for watch-making machines and of stealing tools and materials.

The Japanese, however, hardly need to rely on theft to improve their position, having proved their abilities in a wide range of precision products that includes radios, cameras and automobiles. Few industry officials believe they cannot upset the watch market also.

To do so, however, will require that they be at least as innovative as the Americans and the Swiss. Both countries are now splitting the second into ever smaller parts with tuning fork and quartz watches.

The ordinary jeweled watch oscillates at from 2.5 or 5 times a second, giving off 5 to 10 ticks as it does so. The tuning fork watch vibrates 360 times a second and the incredibly accurate quartz watch at 8,192 times a second.

Flags of member countries at the United Nations headquarters in New York fly in alphabetical order at an equal height in front of the 39-story Secretariat, with the U.N. flag above them. When a nation joins the world body, however, its banner is displayed in a central position above the others for the first day, the National Geographic Society says.

Church Women Hold Annual Holiday Meet

The Parish House of Trinity Lutheran Church was decorated throughout in the Christmas theme recently when the women of the church held their annual Christmas meeting.

Ruth circle decorated the hall with greenery twining two posts and accented with large red bows. Tables were covered with red and green net and a variety of beautiful candles graced the center of each table. Each circle member helped with the decorations by bringing and displaying an unusual Christmas decoration.

Mrs. Larry Wing called the meeting to order and conducted a brief business session. The officers for 1971 were installed by Pastor Carl Zehner. They are president, Mrs. Herman Will; vice president, Mrs. Charles Walters; secretary, Sherry Ann Franklin; treasurer, Mrs. Paul Teegardin Jr.; education secretary, Mrs. Larry Mallett; stewardship secretary, Mrs. Gladden Troutman; assistant to stewardship secretary, Mrs. John Grubb. Circle chairmen are Ruth, Mrs. John Smith; Elizabeth, Mrs. Carl Leist; Sarah, Mrs. Larry Wing; Rebecca, Mrs. Carl Zehner; Esther, Mrs. Jerald Easter; Mary, Mrs. Alice Senesenbrenner.

Christmas music was provided by Esther Circle and the entire group joined in singing "O Little Town Of Bethlehem," "Silent Night," "O Come All Ye Faithful," "Joy To The World," "It Came Upon The Midnight Clear," "Hark! The Herald Angels Sing" and "The First Noel."

Rebecca Circle presented the program, with Mrs. Merton Lorentz introducing 9 "Legends of Christmas" in poem form by Phyllis McGinley.

Following the praying of the "Lord's Prayer," the group went to the next room for refreshments. Members attending had also brought many gifts for children in foster homes.

Each circle was responsible for some part of the activities. Sarah circle, the devotions; Ruth circle, decorations; Mary circle, greeters and name tags; Rebecca circle, program; Esther circle, music and Elizabeth circle, refreshments.

Church Circle Conducts Program On Christ's Birth

The December meeting of Circle 2 of Good Shepherd United Methodist Church was held in the Service Center. Twenty-two members and guests enjoyed a carry-in dinner preceding the business meeting and program. The dining tables were decorated in keeping with the Christmas season with individual favors of red and white candles set in holly and poinsettia candle rings.

Assistant leader, Mrs. Clarence Radcliffe, welcomed

Scioto Chapel Women Hold Holiday Party

Women's Society of Scioto Chapel of Robtown met in the Parish Hall, Thursday noon for its annual Christmas party, with a carry-in dinner and gift exchange.

Traditional turkey and trimmings were also served by a special committee. Candle-lit tables were decorated in accordance with the yuletide theme. Stereo music of Christmas selections and hymns was played during the dinner hour. Prayer was given by the Rev. John Currens.

Mrs. Ned Walker, who was celebrating her birthday, was presented a decorated cake, baked by Mrs. Cecil Ward.

Holiday gift packages, placed beneath a decorated tree, were distributed by Rev. Currens as Santa's helper.

Mrs. Robert Drummond, president, presided at the business meeting. Devotionals were by Mrs. Ward, who read "The Christmas Story" from St. Luke and a reading, "A Joyous Christmas."

The 1971 calendar of events and committees, read by Mrs. Drummond, was approved. New programs, events and speakers for the coming year were discussed and voted upon.

The first meeting of the new year will be held at the parish house in Ashville on January 14 with the Rev. and Mrs. Currens as hosts.

At the close of the meeting Mrs. Walker gave a reading "The Life of Christ." Those present were Mrs. L. J. Welsh, Mrs. Elzie Brooks, Mrs. Lee Downs, Mrs. Harold Fee, Mrs. Glenn Fausnaugh, Mrs. Mabel Isham, Mrs. Howard Koch, Mrs. Henry Hansen, Mrs. Raymond Holt, Mrs. Earl Hott, Mrs. Mary Besanson, Mrs. Frank Noggle, Mrs. Charles Huston, Mrs. Ben Walker, Mrs. Ned Walker, Mrs. Ward and Mrs. Drummond.

Guests were Mrs. Eva Johnson, Mrs. Hazel Mowery, Mrs. William Fee, Miss Nancy Fee, Miss Geneva Rowe and the Rev. and Mrs. Curren.

The Trinity Lutheran Parish House is especially accessible for anyone who has trouble getting up or down steps. It is suggested such people park in the lot at the rear of the church, entering from E. Union St. and enter the Parish House at the entrance off the ramp. In this way there are no steps at all.

A most cordial invitation is extended to come and have a good time with a bunch of friendly people.

Mrs. Siniff opened the meeting with prayer and conducted a brief business meeting. Attending were seven members and three guests, Lucille Kirkwood, Kim Siniff and Melissa Fox.

It was announced that the Day of Prayer and Self-Dental service will be conducted Sunday, January 17, with a missionary to preach the sermon. Circle 1 is responsible for the winter window decorations in the Service Center.

Program leader was Mrs. Melvin Fox. Mrs. Harry Gard read Scripture from the book of St. Matthew and Miss Jessie Cummings presented prayer. Miss Cummings also gave a reading "There Is No Such Thing As A Poor Christmas" and Gladys Noggle read the Christmas story for St. Luke. The leader gave those present a pencil with a Bible verse inscribed on it. Each one was asked to tell what Christmas means to them. Baby pictures were displayed to see who could guess the owners of them. The closing prayer was offered by Mrs. Everett Speakman.

The hostess served a smorgasbord lunch at the close of the meeting.

Social Club Sets Annual Yule Dinner

The 3rd annual Christmas carry-in dinner and party of the Pickaway Social Club will be held Thursday, in the Trinity Lutheran Parish House. Members and guests are to bring a dish of food, their own table service and meet at 11:30 a.m. There are to be no work projects at this meeting.

Committee in charge is Mrs. Walter Heine, Mrs. Harry Lane, Miss Adella Huffman and Mrs. John Miranda. A short program is planned for the afternoon, featuring singing by a group of AAUW members who have formed a singing group in Circleville. Social Club members who have suitable programs which they would like to present themselves are invited to do so. Christmas carols will be included in the program and there will be a white elephant gift exchange value of about $1.

New members and guests are cordially invited to attend this meeting and all meetings of the club. There are no rules regarding age, sex, race or religion. All expenses are met through free will offerings taken at each meeting. The meeting place is furnished free of charge by Trinity Lutheran Church.

Anyone needing more information, or who might be in need of transportation may call Mrs. M. D. Lorentz at 474-9064.

Teachers Assn. Holds Election

The December meeting of the Pickaway County and Adjacent Area Chapter of the Ohio Retired Teachers Assn. was held Saturday in the L-K Restaurant with 65 members present. Dr. Lloyd Sprouse presided. Mrs. Homer Reber read a Christmas story and conducted a short devotional service.

Miss Mary Walters introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Ned Harden, who showed pictures of old Circleville. Mr. Harden is eager to have information and pictures of early schools throughout Pickaway County to add to his collection of photographs.

During the business meeting routine reports were accepted and the nominating committee, headed by Carl Bennett, gave its report resulting in the election of the following officers for 1971: president, Miss Mary Walters; vice president, Howard Hoster; secretary, Mrs. Frances Pritt; treasurer, Mrs. Cleon Webb. The next meeting of the association will be held on March 20.

Ruth circle decorated the hall with greenery twining two posts and accented with large red bows. Tables were covered with red and green net and a variety of beautiful candles graced the center of each table. Each circle member helped with the decorations by bringing and displaying an unusual Christmas decoration.

Mrs. Larry Wing called the meeting to order and conducted a brief business session. The officers for 1971 were installed by Pastor Carl Zehner. They are president, Mrs. Herman Will; vice president, Mrs. Charles Walters; secretary, Sherry Ann Franklin; treasurer, Mrs. Paul Teegardin Jr.; education secretary, Mrs. Larry Mallett; stewardship secretary, Mrs. Gladde Troutman; assistant to stewardship secretary, Mrs. John Grubb. Circle chairmen are Ruth, Mrs. John Smith; Elizabeth, Mrs. Carl Leist; Sarah, Mrs. Larry Wing; Rebecca, Mrs. Carl Zehner; Esther, Mrs. Jerald Easter; Mary, Mrs. Alice Sennebrunner.

Christmas music was provided by Esther Circle and the entire group joined in singing "O Little Town of Bethlehem," "Silent Night," "O Come All Ye Faithful," "Joy To The World," "It Came Upon The Midnight Clear," "Hark! The Herald Angels Sing" and "The First Noel."

Rebecca Circle presented the program, with Mrs. Merton Lorentz introducing 9 'Legends of Christmas' in poem form by Phyllis McGinley.

Following the praying of the "Lord's Prayer," the group went to the next room for refreshments. Members attending had also brought many gifts for children in foster homes.

Each circle was responsible for some part of the activities. Sarah circle, the devotions; Ruth circle, decorations; Mary circle, greeters and name tags; Rebecca circle, program; Esther circle, music and Elizabeth circle, refreshments.

Baby Pictures Displayed By Church Group

Circle 1 of Good Shepherd United Methodist Church met Friday evening in the home of its leader, Mrs. Eugene Sniff, 385 Sunnyview Drive.

Mrs. Sniff opened the meeting with prayer and conducted a brief business meeting. Attending were seven members and three guests, Lucille Kirkwood, Kim Sniff and Melissa Fox.

It was announced that the Day of Prayer and Self-Denial service will be conducted Sunday, January 17, with a missionary to preach the sermon. Circle 1 is responsible for the winter window decorations in the Service Center.

Program leader was Mrs. Melvin Fox. Mrs. Harry Gard read Scripture from the book of St. Matthew and Miss Jessie Cummings presented prayer. Miss Cummings also gave a reading "There Is No Such Thing As A Poor Christmas" and Gladys Noggle read the Christmas story for St. Luke. The leader gave those present a pencil with a Bible verse inscribed on it. Each one was asked to tell what Christmas means to them. Baby pictures were displayed to see who could guess the owners of them. The closing prayer was offered by Mrs. Everett Speakman.

The hostess served a smorgasbord lunch at the close of the meeting.

Social Club Sets Annual Yule Dinner

The 3rd annual Christmas carry-in dinner and party of the Pickaway Social Club will be held Thursday, in the Trinity Lutheran Parish House. Members and guests are to bring a dish of food, their own table service and meet at 11:30 a.m. There are to be no work projects at this meeting.

Committee in charge is Mrs. Walter Heine, Mrs. Harry Lane, Miss Adella Huffman and Mrs. John Miranda. A short program is planned for the afternoon, featuring singing by a group of AAUW members who have formed a singing group in Circleville. Social Club members who have suitable programs which they would like to present themselves are invited to do so. Christmas carols will be included in the program and there will be a white elephant gift exchange value of about $1.

New members and guests are cordially invited to attend this meeting and all meetings of the club. There are no rules regarding age, sex, race or religion. All expenses are met through free will offerings taken at each meeting. The meeting place is furnished free of charge by Trinity Lutheran Church.

Anyone needing more information, or who might be in need of transportation may call Mrs. M. D. Lorentz at 474-9064. The Trinity Lutheran Parish House is especially accessible for anyone who has trouble getting up or down steps. It is suggested such people park in the lot at the rear of the church, entering from E. Union St. and enter the Parish House at the entrance off the ramp. In this way there are no steps at all.

A most cordial invitation is extended to come and have a good time with a bunch of friendly people.

Teachers Assn. Holds Election

Snappy Six Strive For More Mustang Spirit

MUSTANG MISSES — Energy and emotion are the vital resources these six young misses utilize in their cheering job. Co-captain Vicki Dennis, left front, is joined by LaAnn Gifford, Christy Hawker and (back) Marilyn Keller, Kim Long and her associate captain, Brenda Winner, in a spirit boosting program for Mustang supporters during this basketball season.

This year Westfall is very honored to have six energetic and enthusiastic girls as the Varsity cheerleaders for basketball. They have been working very hard at organizing a pep club, making and painting signs, decorating the locker room, and planning pep sessions.

Vicki Dennis and Brenda Winner are the co-captains of the Varsity squad for this year.

Vicki, a 17-year-old senior, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Dennis of Route 3, Mt. Sterling. She is presently enrolled in a combination of college preparatory and business courses.

Some of her activities include 4-H, FBLA, FTA, Drama Club, annual staff, and girl's sports. She is presently the vice president of the Student Council and president of the GAA. She is noted to her many friends by such nicknames as Trudy, Bird Legs, Boog, and Vic. She lists her hobbies as talking to friends, all types of sports, pizza, listening to the "Grand Funk Railroad," and going out with a wavy-haired baseball pitcher. Vicki feels the school spirit this year is the highest of all previous years.

Brenda Winner, 18 and also a senior, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Winner of Route 2, Williamsport. She is enrolled in a combination of college preparatory and business courses also. She is a representative to the Student Council and lists sewing, dating, and painting signs as her hobbies.

Brenda's comment on school spirit was this: "I think the school spirit this year is the best we've had since I've been here. I just wish that some of the new faculty members could have been at some of the pep sessions last year. They would find that the ones this year are 100 per cent better. Keep it up Mustang fans."

Christy Hawker, Lu Ann Gifford, Marilyn Keller, and Kim Long make up the bulk of the squad. They greatly add to the enthusiasm of the players.

Christy, a petite 17-year-old senior, is the daughter of Mr. Helen Hawker of Route 1, Orient. She is enrolled in the general course of study. Her activities include Annual Staff, Student Council, FTA, Drama Club, and 4-H. She enjoys riding horses, swimming, and watching sports. Christy feels that the "school spirit has improved a lot from last year, but still could improve more."

Lu Ann Gifford, a 16-year-old junior, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Gifford of Route 1, New Holland. She is enrolled in the college preparatory course of study and is active in the Science Club and French Club. Some of her hobbies include swimming, water and snow skiing, tennis, basketball, football, volleyball, ping pong, horseback riding, and ice skating.

Her comment on the school spirit was "We have some great basketball teams here at Westfall with a bunch of boys who really fight hard to win; so no matter how much enthusiasm or spirit we have, there's always room for more."

Marilyn Keller, a 16-year-old junior is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Keller of Route 1, Clarksburg. She is presently enrolled in the general course of study and is active in band, 4-H, GAA, along with being the secretary of the FFA. Among her hobbies are horseback riding, sewing, and dancing. Marilyn feels "the school spirit this year is great."

Kim Long, another 16-year-old junior, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Long of Route 1, New Holland. She is enrolled in the college preparatory course of study and lists her activities as Science Club and 4-H. Among her hobbies are swimming, basketball, baseball, and cheering. Kim feels the spirit at the games is about like last year; it's pretty good. She also feels the spirit in the pep sessions has improved a lot; kids are yelling more, and she hopes they keep it up.

The Mustang fans are very proud of their Varsity making them 100 per cent in cheering the "Number 1" team on to victory.

Faculty Picks Seniors For The Week

Sally Minor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Minor, Route 2, Circleville, and Greg Rickabaugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rickabaugh, Route 1, Orient, are the two Westfall seniors selected for the students of the week at Westfall High School.

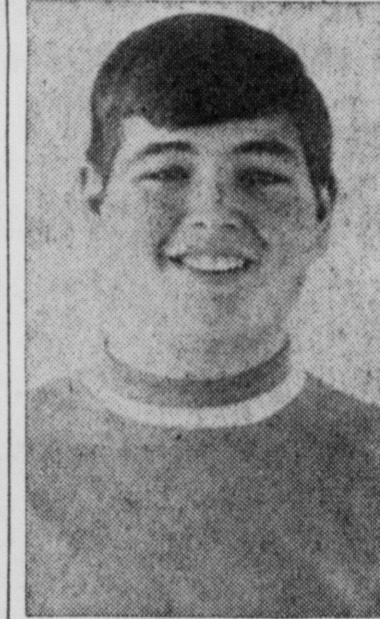

These students are chosen by a panel of five teachers at Westfall.

Miss Minor hopes to attend Ohio State University where she plans to major in either music or journalism. She was recently selected as one of two senior girls to take the D.A.R. Good Citizen Test, as a candidate for the Elks Youth Leadership Contest, and as one of the Outstanding Teenagers of America.

SALLY MINOR

Her activities at Westfall include National Honor Society, treasurer of the Drama Club, president and pianist of the choir, Annual Staff, student office secretary, and "Mustang Country" Staff. Being sports-minded, her hobbies include softball, basketball, volleyball, horseback riding, and water and snow skiing.

GREG RICKABAUGH

Greg Rickabaugh plans to attend Ohio Northern University after graduation and will major in chemistry. His interest in chemistry captured him a

Three Featured In WHS Spotlight

MRS. KAREN ROUSH
Language, English

This week the Mustang spotlight is flashed on three new teachers at Westfall High School.

Mrs. Karen Roush attended Otterbein College and did graduate work at Pennsylvania State University. She teaches English II and French as well as being the adviser of the Westfall Yearling.

Her likes were listed as the color blue, vocal music, and dancing. Mrs. Roush dislikes lazy students. Her hobbies are playing both the piano and organ as well as being a member of a professional singing group.

When asked why she came to the orange doors of W.H.S., she replied, "I came to Westfall because I taught with the Columbus schools for about four years and disliked it, and my husband and I had to move to a smaller community because of his work."

Since Mrs. Roush came from a large school system, she was asked if she thought there was a difference in students from a small school system in comparison to students in a large school system. Mrs. Roush stated, "Students in a smaller school system are not as ambitious, but they are more respectful."

Mrs. Roush concluded her interview by talking about her goals for this year. She finished in saying, "I hope to provide a good annual, along with some good English students."

Mrs. Carolyn Jarrell is a member of the business department at WHS. She teaches typing I and II, bookkeeping, office practice, and general business as well as being the adviser for the FBLA.

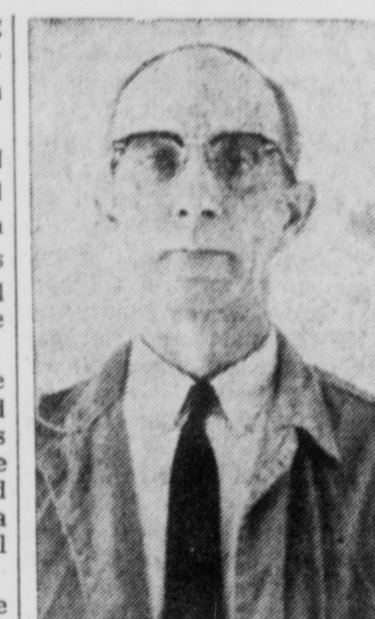

Mrs. Jarrell listed her likes as reading, sewing, music, and associating with people. She dislikes long hair and show-offs. Mrs. Jarrell's hobbies are sewing and cooking.

When asked why she came district first place on the Ohio Scholastic Test in Chemistry and an honorable mention in the state in the spring of 1970. His activities at Westfall range from football, baseball, and audio-visual aid, to Science Club, Drama Club, FBLA, and secretary-treasurer of Varsity "W". Greg's hobbies are electronics, reading, and sports.

to Westfall, Mrs. Jarrell replied, "I came from a small high school and a small university."

Mrs. Jarrell was next asked how she liked the students at Westfall. She replied, "Some I like, and some I don't know."

She concluded in saying, "My

FHA Holds Party At Brooks-Yates

The Westfall Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America traveled to the Brooks-Yates School on Dec. 9, 1970, to give a Christmas party for the students.

The chapter had planned some entertainment for the students. Some members put on a skit to the song "Frosty the Snowman." Those remaining formed a chorus and sang a few Christmas carols.

Brook-Yates students sang songs and demonstrated dances they have been learning. Following the entertainment, FHA members and students shared their sack lunches at noon.

Chapter members were given the opportunity to observe the different classes and the workshop. They watched the students working on the different crafts.

Punch and cookies were then served to everyone by the chapter.

office practice seniors are my main goal, because they will be going into positions where they will need all the help they can get."

Clarence Grace attended Ohio State University where he obtained his degree in Industrial Arts. At Westfall he teaches mechanical drawing and metal shop.

Mr. Grace likes to watch sporting events, especially football. He dislikes people that don't tell the truth. He listed boating as his main hobby.

When asked why he came to Westfall, Mr. Grace replied, "I was in a previous school system that was deteriorating, and I couldn't see any reason for remaining there."

Mr. Grace concluded his interview by talking about his goals for this school year. He finished in saying, "I think the big thing would be to have a better, freer relationship between the students and teachers."

Art Students Do Postal Decorating

Recently, six art-minded Westfall students traveled to the Mt. Sterling Post Office. Their mission: to paint an ice skating scene on the front window of the building.

These students were Sherry Covault, Donna Fullen, Pauline Scarberry, Debbie Dewey, Craig Liston and John Emerine. From this task, they received many orders for future work at local businesses and from private individuals.

Money received from their efforts will be placed in the art club fund. While discussing their recent projects, one can hardly omit their current "Christmas Spirit." Their work in decorating the school with Santa Claus and paintings seem to make the day a little bit more brighter around Christmas time.

Much praise should go to their industrious labors.

Seniors Hold Class Meeting

The Senior class at Westfall High School held a meeting Dec. 3 during activity period.

The first portion of the meeting was used by the "71" class to vote on graduation announcements from a representative of the Herff-Jones Company. The selected announcements are of the tri-fold style. The new school crest that was created by an artist from the Herff-Jones Company will be placed on the first fold, enhanced by blue air brushing. The second fold will contain the name card which is printed in gold ink. The same color ink and type as the name card will be used in the mail center fold which will contain the date and time of the commencement as well as the class motto, flower, and colors.

Seniors have selected "We've only just begun" as their motto. Colors for this year's class are gold and blue. The morning glory has been selected as the class flower.

During the second part of the meeting, Mr. Beck presented the problem of raising money for the rental of caps and gowns. It was suggested that the seniors have a number of noon bake sales or sell mum corsages at the basketball homecoming.

Students Give Holiday Spirit Rating

With Christmas just around the corner, the roving reporters at Westfall decided to get a few opinions on "What is Christmas Spirit?"

C. Bowen: The time when you get along with everyone — especially Santa and his reindeer.

D. Bryant: A time of giving and receiving.

P. Neff: Two weeks of vacation.

Terry Rogers: The only time of the year when everyone loves their neighbors.

Ted Rogers: New Year's Eve all year round!

D. Stapleton: Winning our ball games.

D. Karshner: Being in the "Winter Wonderland."

M. Funk: What you have after the partying!

D. Scribner: Seeing Santa Claus (Mr. W.)

Mr. Bolman: It should be all around the year.

T. McCoy: A warm evening with somebody.

S. Hammond: Two weeks of celebration.

T. Hamilton: No more English.

Mr. Wellington: I think of three things: candy — presents — and some more candy!

J. Carle: Having the whole family together.

Mrs. Stubbs: Feeling of peace and friendliness toward everyone.

S. Liff: Thinking about Jesus.

Her comment on the school spirit was "We have some great basketball teams here at Westfall with a bunch of boys who really fight hard to win; so no matter how much enthusiasm or spirit we have, there's always room for more."

Marilyn Keller, a 16-year-old junior is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Keller of Route 1, Clarksburg. She is presently enrolled in the general course of study and is active in band, 4-H, GAA, along with being the secretary of the FHA. Among her hobbies are horseback riding, sewing, and dancing. Marilyn feels "the school spirit this year is great."

She added, "It seems like everyone is ready to cheer the Mustangs to victory. I think as the season grows, so will the spirit."

Kim Long, another 16-year-old junior, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Long of Route 1, New Holland. She is enrolled in the college preparatory course of study and lists her activities as Science Club and 4-H. Among her hobbies are swimming, basketball, baseball, and cheering. Kim feels the spirit at the games is about like last year; it's pretty good. She also feels the spirit in the pep sessions has improved a lot; kids are yelling more, and she hopes they keep it up.

The Mustang fans are very proud of their Varsity making them 100 per cent in cheering the "Number 1" team on to victory.

Faculty Picks Seniors For The Week

Sally Minor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Minor, Route 2, Circleville, and Greg Rickabaugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rickabaugh, Route 1, Orient, are the two Westfall seniors selected for the students of the week at Westfall High School.

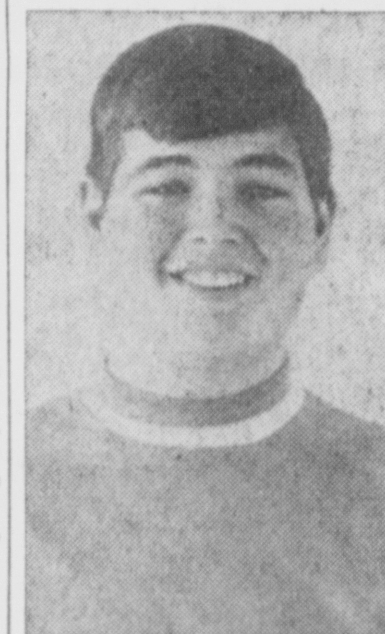

These students are chosen by a panel of five teachers at Westfall.

Miss Minor hopes to attend Ohio State University where she plans to major in either music or journalism. She was recently selected as one of two senior girls to take the D.A.R. Good Citizen Test, as a candidate for the Elks Youth Leadership Contest, and as one of the Outstanding Teenagers of America.

SALLY MINOR

Her activities at Westfall include National Honor Society, treasurer of the Drama Club, president and pianist of the choir, Annual Staff, student office secretary, and "Mustang Country" Staff. Being sports-minded, her hobbies include softball, basketball, volleyball, horseback riding, and water and snow skiing.

GREG RICKABAUGH

Greg Rickabaugh plans to attend Ohio Northern University after graduation and will major in chemistry. His interest in chemistry captured him a

Three Featured In WHS Spotlight

MRS. KAREN ROUSH
Language, English

This week the Mustang spotlight is flashed on three new teachers at Westfall High School.

Mrs. Karen Roush attended Otterbein College and did graduate work at Pennsylvania State University. She teaches English II and French as well as being the adviser of the Westfall Yearling.

Her likes were listed as the color blue, vocal music, and dancing. Mrs. Roush dislikes lazy students. Her hobbies are playing both the piano and organ as well as being a member of a professional singing group.

When asked why she came to the orange doors of W.H.S., she replied, "I came to Westfall because I taught with the Columbus schools for about four years and disliked it, and my husband and I had to move to a smaller community because of his work."

Since Mrs. Roush came from a large school system, she was asked if she thought there was a difference in students from a small school system in comparison to students in a large school system. Mrs. Roush stated, "Students in a smaller school system are not as ambitious, but they are more respectful."

Mrs. Roush concluded her interview by talking about her goals for this year. She finished in saying, "I hope to provide a good annual, along with some good English students."

Mrs. Carolyn Jarrell is a member of the business department at WHS. She teaches typing I and II, bookkeeping, office practice, and general business as well as being the adviser for the FBLA.

Mrs. Jarrell listed her likes as reading, sewing, music, and associating with people. She dislikes long hair and show-offs. Mrs. Jarrell's hobbies are sewing and cooking.

When asked why she came

MRS. CAROLYN JARRELL

to Westfall, Mrs. Jarrell replied, "I came from a small high school and a small university."

Mrs. Jarrell was next asked how she liked the students at Westfall. She replied, "Some I like, and some I don't know."

She concluded in saying, "My

FHA Holds Party At Brooks-Yates

The Westfall Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America traveled to the Brooks-Yates School on Dec. 9, 1970, to give a Christmas party for the students.

The chapter had planned some entertainment for the students. Some members put on a skit to the song "Frosty the Snowman." Those remaining formed a chorus and sang a few Christmas carols.

Brook-Yates students sang songs and demonstrated dances they have been learning. Following the entertainment, FHA members and students shared their sack lunches at noon.

Chapter members were given the opportunity to observe the different classes and the workshop. They watched the students working on the different crafts.

Punch and cookies were then served to everyone by the chapter.

office practice seniors are my main goal, because they will be going into positions where they will need all the help they can get."

Clarence Grace attended Ohio State University where he obtained his degree in Industrial Arts. At Westfall he teaches mechanical drawing and metal shop.

Mr. Grace likes to watch sporting events, especially football. He dislikes people that don't tell the truth. He listed boating as his main hobby.

When asked why he came to Westfall, Mr. Grace replied, "I was in a previous school system that was deteriorating, and I couldn't see any reason for remaining there."

Mr. Grace concluded his interview by talking about his goals for this school year. He finished in saying, "I think the big thing would be to have a better, freer relationship between the students and teachers."

FNA

Officers for the Future Nurses of America are as follows: Sheila Smith, president; Linda Fausnaugh, vice president; Ann Hamric, secretary - treasurer; Wendy Neff, corresponding secretary; Cindy Selby, news reporter. The bake sale on Dec. 2 was a huge success.

Varsity "W"

Varsity "W" will be selling programs for the rest of the home basketball games. Also, they are again sponsoring the "Mistletoe Ball" to be held Dec. 26.

ART CLUB

Art Club is planning a bake sale for Dec. 15, during both lunch groups.

DRAMA CLUB

Drama Club is planning an evening of three one-act plays to be directed by students.

NEWSPAPER STAFF

December issue of the "Echo" will be published on Dec. 18.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The "Mustang Power Pins" have arrived and are now on sale from Council members.

FTA

Future Teachers of America have assigned aides to the teachers to help in grading papers and other duties.

FFA

The Future Farmers of America have completed their magazine sales. Tom Eitel won a Mossburg rifle and Ron Greenwood won a Case XX knife.

FHA

Future Homemakers of America are making Christmas favors for Berger Hospital. They are also sponsoring a clothing drive.

A'though forests blanket two-thirds of its land, Finland sometimes imports wood from Russia and Sweden to feed its many saw-mills and paper plants.

Trail Talk

Mr. Hamman spilled soup on his shirt last week. He claims the spoors are too small!

Glenna Holbrook has been accepted to Patricia Stevens Career College and Finishing School in Atlanta, Ga.

Did the Rogers Twins really have a visit from the "Great Turkey?"

Seniors, did you enjoy the SAT test?

Brenda and Vicki, Mr. Hamman doesn't appreciate our leading cheers in fifth period government!

Who set fire to the trash can in the "Boy's John?"

Are there really five boys who are going to write autobiographies of their five days in the "Westfall Prison?"

Is it true that the band director had to show his I.D. to buy BB's? How 'bout it, Mr. Kibby?

The Westfall Christmas Program will be Dec. 16, at 7:30.

How did Gummy get nicknamed "Frisbee?"

Art Students Do Postal Decorating

Recently, six art-minded Westfall students traveled to the Mt. Sterling Post Office. Their mission: to paint an ice skating scene on the front window of the building.

These students were Sherry Covault, Donna Pullen, Pauline Scarberry, Debbie Dewey, Craig Liston and John Emerline. From this task, they received many orders for future work at local businesses and from private individuals.

Money received from their efforts will be placed in the art club fund. While discussing their recent projects, one can hardly omit their current "Christmas Spirit." Their work in decorating the school with Santa Claus and paintings seem to make the day a little bit more brighter around Christmas time.

Much praise should go to their industrious labors.

Seniors Hold Class Meeting

The Senior class at Westfall High School held a meeting Dec. 3 during activity period.

The first portion of the meeting was used by the "71" class to vote on graduation announcements from a representative of the Herf-Jones Company. The selected announcements are of the tri-fold style. The new school crest that was created by an artist from the Herf-Jones Company will be placed on the first fold, enhanced by blue air brushing. The second fold will contain the name card which is printed in gold ink. The same color ink and type as the name card will be used in the mail; center fold which will contain the date and time of the commencement as well as the class motto, flower, and colors.

Seniors have selected "We've only just begun" as their motto. Colors for this year's class are gold and blue. The morning glory has been selected as the class flower.

During the second part of the meeting, Mr. Beck presented the problem of raising money for the rental of caps and gowns. It was suggested that the seniors have a number of noon bake sales or sell mum corsages at the basketball homecoming.

Students Give Holiday Spirit Rating

With Christmas just around the corner, the roving reporters at Westfall decided to get a few opinions on "What is Christmas Spirit?"

C. Bowen: The time when you get along with everyone — especially Santa and his reindeer.

D. Bryant: A time of giving and receiving.

P. Neff: Two weeks of vacation.

Terry Rogers: The only time of the year when everyone loves their neighbors.

Ted Rogers: New Year's Eve all year round!

D. Stapleton: Winning our ball games.

D. Karshner: Being in the "Winter Wonderland."

M. Funk: What you have after the partying!

D. Scribner: Seeing Santa Claus (Mr. W.)

Mr. Bolman: It should be all around the year.

T. McCoy: A warm evening with somebody.

S. Hammond: Two weeks of celebration.

T. Hamilton: No more English.

Mr. Wellington: I think of three things: candy — presents — and some more candy!

J. Carle: Having the whole family together.

Mrs. Stubbs: Feeling of peace and a friendliness toward everyone.

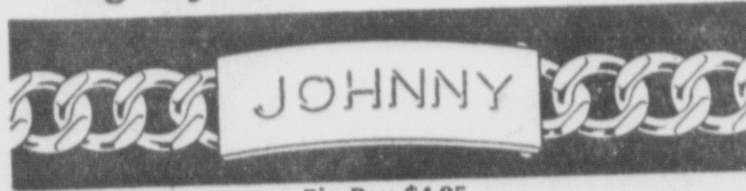

S. Liff: Thinking about Jesus.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

'Book' On Family Relations Needed

DEAR ABBY: When my brother and I were young, our parents bought us a set of books called The Book of Knowledge. There were 20 volumes in all, and it was understood that when my brother and I got married we would split the set up and each get half.

Well, my brother got married first, and he took volumes one through 10. He and his wife seemed perfectly satisfied. Then I got married and I took volumes 11 through 20.

Well, volume 20 just happened to be the index. All of a sudden, my brother's wife writes to me saying their half isn't as good as our half because we got the index which is the most important book in the whole set, and it wasn't "fair."

I wrote back and told her that my brother got first pick and he took the first 10 volumes, and I couldn't help it if we got the index. I don't want a family fight, but I don't think I should send her the index, do you? How can this be settled?

GOT THE INDEX

DEAR GOT: Since the index happens to be in your half, and your brother chose his half first, your sister in law can't yell "foul." Half a loaf may be better than none, but a little learning is still a dangerous thing, so if I were you, I'd start saving up for a complete set, and tell your brother to do the same.

DEAR ABBY: I recently married a woman who is a few years older than I am. She has a teen-aged daughter by a previous marriage whom I will call "Little Miss Sexpot." For obvious reasons, Little Miss Sexpot had been making her home with her father by prior agreement.

Around Thanksgiving Little Miss Sexpot came to visit us during which time I became aware that she was flirting with me. I tried my best to discourage her without being rude, and thought I had made my position clear when this little girl became unbelievably bold and aggressive. I finally had to sit her down and tell her what was what.

Suddenly she announced that she wanted to live with us. Her mother was delighted. I was not and made no secret of it. When the girl realized I was absolutely against it, she told me if I didn't change my mind she would tell her mother that I had made improper advances toward her.

Knowing the true story, Abby, what would you do in my place?

PERPLEXED

DEAR PERPLEXED: I would tell the girl that I refused to be blackmailed, and if she carried out her threat, I would tell my side of the story. (P.S. Don't worry, she won't.) And if she does, I am betting that her mother knows her little girl better than you do.

DEAR ABBY: Wives who think their husbands go on hunting trips to chase other women ought to have their heads examined.

I have gone hunting and fishing with sportsmen for 40 years and I have never known a man to get mixed up with a chick on one of those trips.

First, there are no available women out in the briar patches. And second, a man who is looking for action of that type doesn't have to drive a thousand miles, and then go out in the woods looking for broads when Chicago is full of them.

Khrushchev 'Memoirs' Tell Of Cuban Missile Crisis

NEW YORK (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev in the last installment of the reminiscences attributed to him says the Soviet government in 1962 installed enough missiles in Cuba to destroy New York, Chicago and other American industrial cities, "not to mention a little village like Washington."

But the account, "Khrushchev Remembers: Part IV," in the Dec. 18 issue of Life, says the Soviet aim was to keep the United States from invading Cuba, not to start a war. It says the Bay of Pigs invasion in April, 1961, convinced the premier that Soviet missiles should be installed in the Communist island.

The reminiscences also say President John F. Kennedy appealed to Khrushchev to order the missiles removed in the 1962 crisis because he feared a military takeover in the United States, and that Khrushchev complied only after obtaining assurances there would be no U.S. attempt to invade Cuba.

"The Caribbean crisis was a triumph of Soviet foreign policy and a personal triumph of my own career," Khrushchev is quoted as saying.

In another article in the magazine, an American doctor says Khrushchev told him last year that after Francis Gary Powers' U2 plane was shot down in Soviet territory in 1960, he "was no longer in full control." Those who felt America had imperialistic intentions and that military strength was the most important thing had the evidence they needed.

The doctor, McGehee Harvey, director of the Department of Medicine at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, went to the Soviet Union last year for a medical consultation on a member of the Khrushchev family.

Election Cost Reports Said Not Yet Made

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — None of the big names in the Nov. 3 general election have made complete reports yet on their campaign contributions and expenses.

Friday is the deadline. "Some of these reports are causing a lot of problems for us," said James R. Marsh, election counsel in Secretary of State Ted Brown's office. "Many of these reports are incomplete or incorrect and the candidates will have to correct them."

Marsh said the biggest problem seems to be with addresses of contributors and debtors.

This is one of several features added to required campaign reports by the last general assembly.

cences say that President Kennedy during the missile crisis sent his brother Robert, then the attorney general, to see Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin, and Kennedy told the Ambassador: "The President is in a grave condition . . . and he does not know how to get out of it. We are under pressure from our military to use force against Cuba. President Kennedy implores Chairman Khrushchev to take into consideration the peculiarities of the American system. Even though the President himself is very much against starting a war over Cuba, an irreversible chain of events could occur against his will. That is why the President is appealing directly to Chairman Khrushchev for his help in liquidating this conflict. If the situation continues much longer, the President is not sure that the mili-

Meat Inspection Under Review

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Department of Agriculture expects no difficulty in obtaining federal certification of its meat inspection program, despite the fact that Ohio is among 36 states not meeting a Tuesday deadline requiring such certification.

Ohio is among 15 states that have submitted inspection programs for review, according to Dr. John Richardson, acting chief of the state's meat inspection program.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's North Central Regional office in Chicago is in the process of making spot inspections at 60 of the nearly 700 slaughter houses and packing plants now under state jurisdiction, Richardson said.

He said the inspections are to be completed and a report made to Washington by Jan. 15. He predicted that the state would know whether its program had been certified by mid-February.

Letters To Santa Claus

Dear Santa,
I am 7 years old. For Christmas I want Big Wheels, race track set, erector set, power tools and a whizzer. I will leave you some cookies and milk.

Kevin R. Sowers
121 W. Corwin St.
P.S. Bring my sister Vickie something.

Dear Santa,
When you come to see me this year I will leave sugar and carrots for your reindeer like I did last year and there will be something for you to eat and drink, too. My mommy is writing for me because I don't write too good yet, but we are learning lots of things like that to do in kindergarten. I am telling her what to say and she says that is like having a secretary. Please bring me a baby go bye-bye, talking clock, silly sponge, string, plastic bubble, popcorn popper and a surprise like you always bring. That is fun to get something I didn't even ask for. I will leave a present for you to take home to your mommy. I hope all the boys and girls everywhere have a happy Christmas. I sure do love you. This year I get to help bake the birthday cake for Baby Jesus and blow out the candles.

India Gets Royalty Back

NEW DELHI (AP) — The Indian Supreme Court revived the institution of royalty for impoverished India today, ruling Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's abolition of princely ranks and privileges was unconstitutional.

The 8-3 decision returned to the 278 maharajas their titles, $6.4 million a year in privy purses paid by the government, and such other privileges as exemption from many taxes, free utilities, free medical allowances and duty free imports.

The lower house of Parliament passed a constitutional amendment converting the princes into commoners Sept. 1 after Mrs. Gandhi told it the maharajas' special privileges were out of tune with the egalitarian society India should have. The upper house rejected the proposed amendment on Sept. 5, but President V. V. Giri signed a decree containing its provisions a few hours later.

The supreme court ruled that the presidential decree violated the constitution and was "imperative." The court also issued a writ of mandamus forbidding the central government from moving against the maharajas.

NEW YORK (AP) — "God Bless the Children," NBC's Monday night "world premiere" feature, obviously was in the studio production line at the time when "relevance" was Hollywood's favorite word and troubled youth its favorite theme.

The network executives were so impressed that they ordered six hour-long episodes spun off the central character. Under the title "the Psychiatrist," they will be the final segment of NBC's "Four in One" series starting in February.

In the pilot film, Dr. James Whitman—played by Roy Thinnes—plucks an ex-addict from his group therapy patients to work as his assistant in combating teenage drug addiction in a small community. The two hours were really an inspection of the horrors suffered by an addict during and even after he has shaken off his dependence on drugs. It was not particularly effective television.

While the official star was Thinnes, the heavy role went to Peter Duel as the ex-addict two years away from his last fix but still an emotional cripple.

Over the seasons a number of series have had psychiatrists in central roles and not one has ever really worked well. The psychiatrist's role is a passive, questioning one and while Thinnes was tense ad uptight in his playing, all the action was around him.

Those Christmas specials for children which the networks pull out each year are winners in the Nielsen polls. In the ratings for the week ending Dec. 6, CBS's "A Charlie Brown Christmas" and "Frosty the Snowman" were in third and fourth places. CBS's "How the Grinch Stole Christmas" was ninth and NBC's new-to-TV cartoon, "Winnie the Pooh and the Blustery Day" was 10th. NBC's "The Littlest Angel" and "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer" were 13th and 14th.

Meanwhile, ABC's "Marcus Welby M.D." continued as the ratings champ, followed by the NBC special, "Dick Van Dyke Meets Bill Cosby."

When Andy Griffith changes show horses in mid-season, his new steed will be called "The New Andy Griffith Show." This will, of course, separate him from "Headmaster," and it will also, it is hoped, distinguish the show from "Andy of Mayberry" which is the old "Andy Griffith Show" in syndicated reruns and from "Mayberry, R.F.D." which is the old "Andy Griffith Show" without Andy Griffith.

Shelby Deputies Recover Guns, Items

SIDNEY, Ohio (AP) — Shelby County sheriff deputies said stolen guns, jewelry and furs worth $4,000 were received Monday following the arrest of two persons.

Sheriff Don Laws said several counts of burglary would be filed against Ellsworth Harris, 25, of Sidney, and a 16-year-old rural Sidney youth.

The recovered property, he said, had been stolen from homes and businesses in a four-county area.

A Christmas Story The Miracle at Derrick, Texas

by Luise Putcamp, Jr.

Synopsis: "Christopher just sings awful!" cries little Peggy. But Mrs. Motherwell encojles the orphans into letting him practice for the carol festival with them. After all — singing is the only thing that makes him smile. Nobody at the Orphanage knows yet what Banker Skind is plotting.

CHAPTER VII THE LETTER

WHEN BANKER SKIND ran into Gus Derek at Ketchum's Drug Store, he had the letter in his pocket. It was all ready to send, but he was still going around town showing it off.

"Mornin', G. D.," said Skind to the oil man. "Have a seat, G. D." Then he calld over his shoulder: "Two coffees, Fred."

As Fred Ketchum drew the coffee from the steaming silver urn, he listened to Skind, and shook his head sadly.

"Got the letter all done," said Skind, fshing it out with a flourish.

"What letter?" said Derek, hooking the heels of his hand-tooled boots over a rung of the stool.

"You knod, G. D. — that letter that's going to get rid "... unsafe, unsightly and unsanitary!"

of the Orphanage. The one I was telling you about — says that old eyesore of a building is condemned."

"That so?"

"Here's the good part," chortled Skind, reading as if he didn't know it by heart: "It says the building is condemned because it's 'unsafe, unsightly and unsanitary!'" He rolled the words around on his tongue once more. "Ain't that a good one?"

Fred set the cups down hard on the counter and stood there looking at the two men. "When you going to start tearing down the Orphanage," he asked. "Christmas Eve?"

"Now Fred," said Skind impatiently, "you know we can't get around to it that soon. Besides —" Then he saw Ketchum's wry smile. "We're giving 'em till the first of the year to get out," he said coldly.

"Where do you suppose they'll go?" said Fred.

"Go? How do I know? Who cares?"

"Seems like they've been here for a spell," said Gus Derek. "Since the old boom days, at least." Derek dated everything from the boom days, because that's when he'd started making his money. And his reputation as a good man, of sorts. Anyway, this year Derek had raised the prize for the carol festival to ten thousand dollars — biggest prize yet.

"That Orphanage never did anybody any harm," said Fred Ketchum, energetically mopping at the clean counter with his cloth. "They've never asked anybody for anything."

"Wonder is," snorted Skind, "that they've kept going this long. Wonder if it's true they get a check every month from some rich old timer with a guilty conscience?"

"No telling," said Derek, fashing his coffee and getting up to go.

Skind hasti'v got up too. "See you around, G. D.," he said. He plunked two dimes on the counter for Fred Ketchum.

Fred leaned over the counter.

"It's not right, Skind," he said. "Just before Christmas, and all."

"Man, don't be a fool," said Skind. "Folks will rise up and shout hallelujah when we tear down that old eyesore. Might build a city swimming pool there. Or an oil well!"

He went off chuckling across the street, and Fred could see him go into the Post Office and walk importantly up to the window, flourishing the letter.

"They'll get it tomorrow, over at the Orphanage," thought Fred Ketchum.

And all the tinsel and holly berries stuck up around the drug store looked tired, now, and kind of faded out.

Rain, Wind Snow Rake Far West

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rain, wind and snow hit wide areas of the West today and zero cold stung the northern Midwest.

Snow also spilled into parts of the Northeast off the Great Lakes, but generally pleasant weather prevailed in most other sections on the country from the Rockies eastward.

A developing storm system over the Southwest sparked thunderstorms that pelted Las Cruces, N.M., with half-inch hail during the night.

Three inches of snow blanketed Zuni Pueblo in New Mexico and 2 inches fell at Owyhee, Nev. Heavy snow warnings were issued for all New Mexico east of the Rio Grande River.

Gale-force winds raked the Pacific Northwest coast from northern California through Washing'on, and scattered rain or snow were common throughout the region.

Ohio Solons Back Corporate Tax

By PERRY SMITH
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Both Republicans and Democrats in the 109th General Assembly endorse Gov. elect John J. Gilligan's plan to tax corporation profits, an Associated Press survey reveals.

The legislators, who will take their seats Jan. 4, 1971, also back a statewide individual income tax, but not with the zeal they show for the corporation tax.

These points were evident from a questionnaire mailed to all members of the next General Assembly.

Gilligan has suggested the corporation tax to pay for expanding state services and has said he would seek a personal income tax only if more money is needed.

All responding legislators agree on one point—some new form of taxes will come in the next legislative session.

A few legislators answering the questionnaire favor an increase in the sales tax rather than a personal income tax.

"Hopefully we will see a shift from property tax to income tax, both business and personal," said one legislator. His viewpoint was underscored by the majority of the others.

"I believe tax revision will be the most important job and the hardest for the future legislatures to deal with," said incoming freshman Rep. George D. Tablack, D-82 Campbell.

"I think its very important to remember," said Tablack, "when you get into revising taxes it may effect many other areas of taxation in a way that may not be visible or even expected."

Although Gilligan has turned the tax issue over to a citizens' task force for study, he has left no doubt that he wants a tax on corporation profits.

During the last session of this legislature, Republicans unsuccessfully advocated a statewide county income tax as the answer to the state's money needs.

House Speaker Charles F. Kurfess of Perrysburg has indicated this will be the GOP approach next year. But only two legislators replying to the poll said they favored it.

Rep. Frederick N. Young, R-84 Dayton, said he expects "as many new taxes as can be dreamed of" to be introduced in the upcoming session.

"I favor a comprehensive tax revision program, which will include raising new funds via income tax," the sophomore Republican lawmaker said.

"There must be a reform, possibly with emphasis on increased taxation on industry," said another legislator, "but not to the degree that it would be forced out of the state nor pre-

Wickliffe Resident Killed In Accident

DALTON, Ga. (AP) — A 22-year-old Wickliffe, Ohio, man was killed Monday in a two-car accident on Interstate 75 north of here, the Georgia Highway Patrol said.

Dave V. Gelbach was in a stalled car when it was struck by a tractor-trailer. The truck driver, Alva Webb, 44, of Bedford, Ohio, was slightly injured.

vented from locating here."

One legislator, a Democrat who asked not to be quoted, said he favored a personal income tax but felt municipal income taxes should be repealed if the statewide tax becomes effective.

Newspaper Strike Over In Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Members of Teamsters Local 413 voted 54-6 Monday night to accept a contract offer from the Dispatch Printing Co., ending an 11-day strike that ended publication of the Columbus Evening Dispatch and the morning Columbus Citizen Journal.

Dispatch circulation manager Al Gittich and Teamster President Victor Everett called the new three-year contract a "fair and equitable settlement."

Gittich said the company will make an announcement today on when publication of the state capital's only two newspapers will resume.

Federal mediator H. J. Montoney called the contract settlement "on the high side," but added "it's an agreement that respects both positions."

Officials declined to discuss wage increases and benefits in the new contract.

Everett and Gittich said agreement was reached by changing the effective date of a third-year pay increase. Sources said the shift favored the union.

The Teamsters contract expired Sept. 14. Talks broke down Dec. 5 when the strike was called.

The Dispatch has a circulation of 227,125 on weekdays and 326,240 on Sundays. The Citizen-Journal, owned by the E. W. Scripps Co. and printed by the Dispatch Printing Co., has a circulation of 115,000, Monday through Saturday.

Snow also spilled into parts of the Northeast off the Great Lakes, but generally pleasant weather prevailed in most other sections of the country from the Rockies eastward.

A developing storm system over the Southwest sparked thunderstorms that pelted Las Cruces, N.M., with half-inch hail during the night.

Three inches of snow blanketed Zuni Pueblo in New Mexico and 2 inches fell at Owyhee, Nev. Heavy snow warnings were issued for all New Mexico east of the Rio Grande River.

Gale-force winds raked the Pacific Northwest coast from northern California through Washington, and scattered rain or snow were common throughout the region.

Ohio Solons Back Corporate Tax

By PERRY SMITH
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Both Republicans and Democrats in the 109th General Assembly endorse Gov. elect John J. Gilligan's plan to tax corporation profits, an Associated Press survey reveals.

The legislators, who will take their seats Jan. 4, 1971, also back a statewide individual income tax, but not with the zeal they show for the corporation tax.

These points were evident from a questionnaire mailed to all members of the next General Assembly.

Gilligan has suggested the corporation tax to pay for expanding state services and has said he would seek a personal income tax only if more money is needed.

All responding legislators agree on one point—some new form of taxes will come in the next legislative session.

A few legislators answering the questionnaire favor an increase in the sales tax rather than a personal income tax.

"Hopefully we will see a shift from property tax to income tax, both business and personal," said one legislator. His viewpoint was underscored by the majority of the others.

"I believe tax revision will be the most important job and the hardest for the future legislatures to deal with," said incoming freshman Rep. George D. Tablack, D-82 Campbell.

"I think it's very important to remember," said Tablack, "when you get into revising taxes it may effect many other areas of taxation in a way that may not be visible or even expected."

Although Gilligan has turned the tax issue over to a citizens' task force for study, he has left no doubt that he wants a tax on corporation profits.

During the last session of this legislature, Republicans unsuccessfully advocated a statewide county income tax as the answer to the state's money needs.

House Speaker Charles F. Kurfess of Perrysburg has indicated this will be the GOP approach next year. But only two legislators replying to the poll said they favored it.

Rep. Frederick N. Young, R-84 Dayton, said he expects "as many new taxes as can be dreamed of" to be introduced in the upcoming session.

"I favor a comprehensive tax revision program, which will include raising new funds via income tax," the sophomore Republican lawmaker said.

"There must be a reform, possibly with emphasis on increased taxation on industry," said another legislator, "but not to the degree that it would be forced out of the state nor pre-

One legislator, a Democrat who asked not to be quoted, said he favored a personal income tax but felt municipal income taxes should be repealed if the statewide tax becomes effective.

Newspaper Strike Over In Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Members of Teamsters Local 413 voted 54-6 Monday night to accept a contract offer from the Dispatch Printing Co., ending in 11-day strike that ended publication of the Columbus Evening Dispatch and the morning Columbus Citizen Journal.

Dispatch circulation manager Al Gittich and Teamster President Victor Everett called the new three-year contract a "fair and equitable settlement."

Gittich said the company will make an announcement today on when publication of the state capital's only two newspapers will resume.

Federal mediator H. J. Montone called the contract settlement "on the high side," but added "it's an agreement that respects both positions."

Officials declined to discuss wage increases and benefits in the new contract.

Everett and Gittich said agreement was reached by changing the effective date of a three-year pay increase. Sources said the shift favored the union.

The Teamsters contract expired Sept. 14. Talks broke down Dec. 5 when the strike was called.

The Dispatch has a circulation of 227,125 on weekdays and 326,240 on Sundays. The Citizen-Journal, owned by the E. W. Scripps Co. and printed by the Dispatch Printing Co., has a circulation of 115,000, Monday through Saturday.

Pro Football Bowl Picture More Confused

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Brother, can you spare a dime? Or whatever kind of coin Pete Rozelle wants to flip to settle the National Football League's playoff picture.

What has Rozelle wrought? A state of confusion in which a coin flip could send a team to the sidelines while the winner of the toss goes after the $25,000-a-man Super Bowl plum.

Only three teams—Minnesota in the National Conference Central, Baltimore in the American East and Oakland in the American West—have clinched their division titles. The other five playoff participants will be decided Sunday . . . or will they?

The simplest way of explaining the mess is this: If there is a two-way deadlock either for first place in a division or the best second-place record in a conference, the first tie-breaking formula is the season's games between the two teams involved.

If they broke even or did not play each other, the next step is intradivision records for settling division races and intraconference records for determining the best second-place team. If a comparison of intradivision races still leaves a tie, then intradivision records are used. Finally, comes a coin toss.

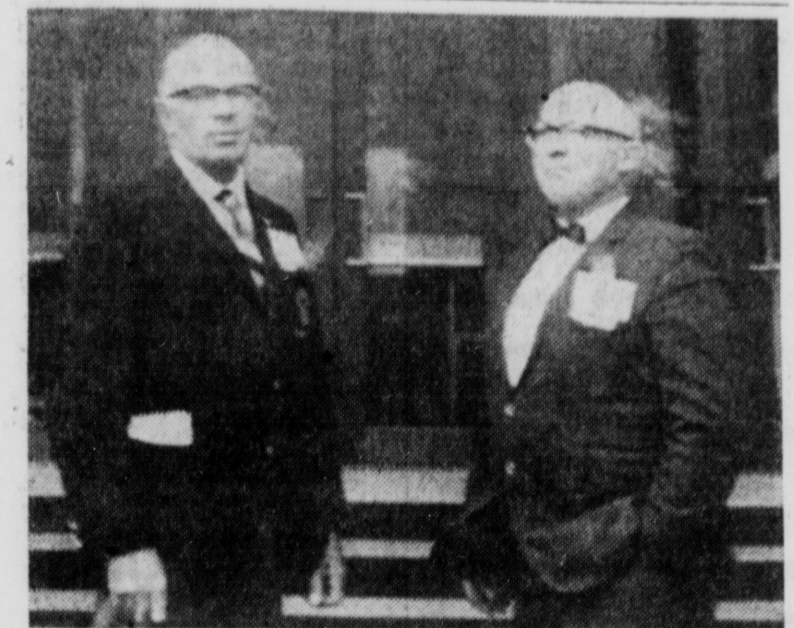

Still alive and kicking are the New York Giants and Dallas, both 9-4, and St. Louis, 8-4-1, in the NFC East; Detroit, 9-4, in the NFC Central; San Francisco, 9-3-1, and Los Angeles, 8-4-1, in the NFC West; Miami in the AFC East; Cincinnati, 7-6, and Cleveland, 6-7, in the AFC Central and Kansas City, 7-4-2, in the AFC West.

Nine games Sunday will involve playoff contenders, with the clash in New York between Los Angeles and the Giants the only one matching two pretenders head-to-head. The other games find Houston at Dallas, St. Louis at Washington, Green Bay at Detroit, San Francisco at Oakland, Buffalo at Miami, Boston at Cincinnati, Cleveland at Denver and Kansas City and San Diego.

Detroit's 28-23 triumph over Los Angeles Monday night boosted the Lions' hopes and dampened those of the Rams, but really did nothing to assure the winners a playoff berth or eliminate the losers.

AT CONFERENCE — Don Collins (left) owner pro of Upper Lansdowne Golf Links, and William Cook, greenskeeper of Salt Forks State Park near Cambridge, attended the annual Ohio Turfgrass Foundation conference in Cincinnati last week.

Collins Elected Officer Of OTC

Donald B. Collins, owner-pro of Upper Lansdowne Golf Links, has been elected a trustee of the Ohio Turfgrass Foundation.

He was elected during the annual conference and show of the organization held last week in Cincinnati.

Collins is also a trustee of the Ohio Outdoor Recreation Assn., which held its annual winter meeting in conjunction with the Turfgrass Foundation at Cincinnati.

At the turfgrass Foundation discussions concered the use of pesticides, herbicides, plant foods and budget. The conference was co-sponsored by the Ohio Cooperative Extension Service and the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center.

Discussions at the Outdoor Recreation Assn. conference were on latest status on green belt legislation, junior golf programs, federal wage and hour laws, operating a pro shop at a profit, administration and taxes.

Virg Carter Plans Quiet Practices

CINCINNATI (AP) — "It hurts too much to talk" so quarterback Virgil Carter plans some very quiet practices this week as the Cincinnati Bengals prepare for their final game against the Boston Patriots and a chance to clinch the American Football Conference Central Division title.

"I'll try not to talk today," said Carter, whose tongue was badly cut Sunday in the Cincinnati 30-20 victory over the Houston Oilers.

"If the swelling goes down by Thursday I can talk a little but no yelling audibles. It hurts too much. I'll just have to wait and see how it works out."

Carter took a forearm shot from linebacker Ron Pritchard on a blitz during the second period and had to leave the game. Carter said he was unable to talk because the tongue and lip were cut so badly. Four stitches were taken in the tongue in the locker room and Carter returned in the third period to lead the 24-point scoring spree.

"I was able to call plays all right until about four minutes to go. I asked the doctor for something because it hurt so bad. It made me kind of numb but it was enough to finish."

Fortunately, he said, the plays come in from Coach Paul Brown and he didn't have to hold discussions in the huddle. Later in the game Pritchard nailed Carter again, then apologized for hitting him earlier.

New Mexico Edges Past Texas Tech; Win 73-72

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Got a second? Mike Stewart and Mike Lockette have something to show you.

Stewart hit a jumper with one second left to give New Mexico a 73-72 overtime basketball victory over Texas Tech and Mike Lockette pocketed a pressure free throw with a second on the clock for St. Louis' 65-64 success over Harvard Monday night.

And it took Billy Black all of three seconds to win a game for Texas, putting in a free throw in a 72-71 success over Oklahoma State.

Tenth-ranked Villanova, only team in the Top Twenty in action, just took its own good time in beating Xavier, 84-62 behind Howard Porter's 32 points and 11 rebounds.

New Mexico and Texas Tech, a pair of physically tough clubs, battled stubbornly through regulation time. Gregg Lowery hit a 16-foot jump shot with 21 seconds left to tie the game for Texas Tech.

The regulation match ended on a controversial play when New Mexico's Pete Gibson committed a foul, but officials ruled there was no time left.

Willie Long, who had kept New Mexico alive most of the night with 34 points, fouled out in the overtime session. But Stewart took over the hero's role with his split-second shooting.

It was also too-close-for-comfort between St. Louis and Harvard as the Crimson tied it 64-64 with 1:06 left on Floyd Lewis' field goal.

St. Louis' Jim Irving missed a shot from 15 feet out and Lockette was fouled by Lewis when he went in for the rebound.

Oklahoma State had tied its game at 71 on a layup by Tony Kraus with 11 seconds left. Black, fouled by Mike Jeffries as he drove to the basket in the closing seconds, then pitched in his game-winning.

Porter, Villanova's agile 6-foot-8 center, scored the first four points of the game and Clarence Smith added two before Xavier had a point. The Wildcats didn't have any trouble after that.

Auburn edged Mississippi State 73-70 despite a 31-point performance by State's Jack Boudin; Bobby Jack hit 23 points and 6-foot-8 Clifford Ray ruled the backboards in Oklahoma's 79-70 victory over Alabama; Mike Henry and John Sutter combined for 18 points in overtime, leading Tulane over Indiana State 109-96; Rudy Benjamin scored 41 points as Michigan State gunned Butler 99-75 and Nebraska hammered Nevada, Reno 116-71 behind Marv Stewart's 33 points.

Elsewhere, it was Illinois 82, Northern Michigan 70; Kansas State 81, Vanderbilt 74; Colgate 86, Cornell 75; Texas A&M 91, Abilene Christian 74; Princeton 78, New York University 68; Iowa State 86, Arkansas 77 and Creighton 81, St. Francis, Pa. 67.

After 14 years in the majors Luis Aparicio had a .260 career average. Last season the veteran shortstop batted .313 for the Chicago White Sox.

UCLA Clings To College Cage Lead; Gamecocks 2nd

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
One, two . . . they're still doing the Rankings Shuffle with UCLA at the head of the line.

But college basketball teams just moved a couple of steps today among the Top Ten and a few put their best foot forward in the rest of the bunch.

The same faces appear in the Top Ten, headed by UCLA's in-dominable Bruins, No. 1 with 33 first place votes and 712 points from sports writers and broadcasters around the country.

South Carolina, same as last week, is No. 2. The Gamecocks polled four first place ballots and 650 points—62 behind the front-runners. Last week, UCLA led by 52.

The top five spread-eagled the rest of the field. Penn picked up two places for sixth with 236 points, Notre Dame dropped one to seventh, with 283, and Southern California moved up a spot to eighth with 258.

Drake, No. 7 last week, skidded to No. 9 with 257 points and Villanova remained 10th with 192.

Rest of the Top Twenty included No. 11 Western Kentucky; No. 12 Kansas; No. 13 Indiana; No. 14 Tennessee; No. 15 Utah State; No. 16 Oregon; Florida State and New Mexico State, tied for 17th; St. Bonaventure, No. 19 and 20th-ranked North Carolina.

Army, No. 14 and Louisville, No. 20 last week, were the only

Top Twenty dropouts. They were replaced by Florida State and North Carolina.

Incredible UCLA beat U. Pacific and Tulane last week won its 124th game in the last 128.

But are the Bruins satisfied? "The press isn't as good as we had hoped for," UCLA assistant Coach Garf Cunningham told a basketball luncheon Monday. "We can't yet contain them in the backcourt. But we'll keep working on it."

Nobody's perfect, he insisted. The Top Twenty, with first place votes in parentheses and total points on a 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8 etc. basis:

1. UCLA (33) 712
2. South Carolina (4) 650
3. Kentucky 524
4. Marquette (2) 497
5. Jacksonville (1) 439
6. Penn 236
7. Notre Dame 283

Sample Gives Testimony Before NFL Grand Jury

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A federal grand jury investigation into possible antitrust violations in the National Football League continues today following testimony from retired all-pro defensive back John Sample.

Sample told newsmen after appearing before the jury Monday that if anyone is indicted, it should be NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle. He said he told the jury of alleged blackballing practices, racial discrimination and the league's "stranglehold" on players.

Sample said he thought New York Jets quarterback Joe Namath should be called before the jury in regard to the selling of his Bachelor's Three night spot last year, saying, "I think he (Namath) will be very helpful if he is called in."

Sample said he "talked a little" to the jury about the sale and said, "He (Namath) didn't do anything wrong and they didn't have evidence he did anything wrong." Sample charged that Rozelle told Namath to "sell out or not play football any more."

"The control they (Rozelle and owners) think they have over them (players) puts fear in the ball players," Sample said.

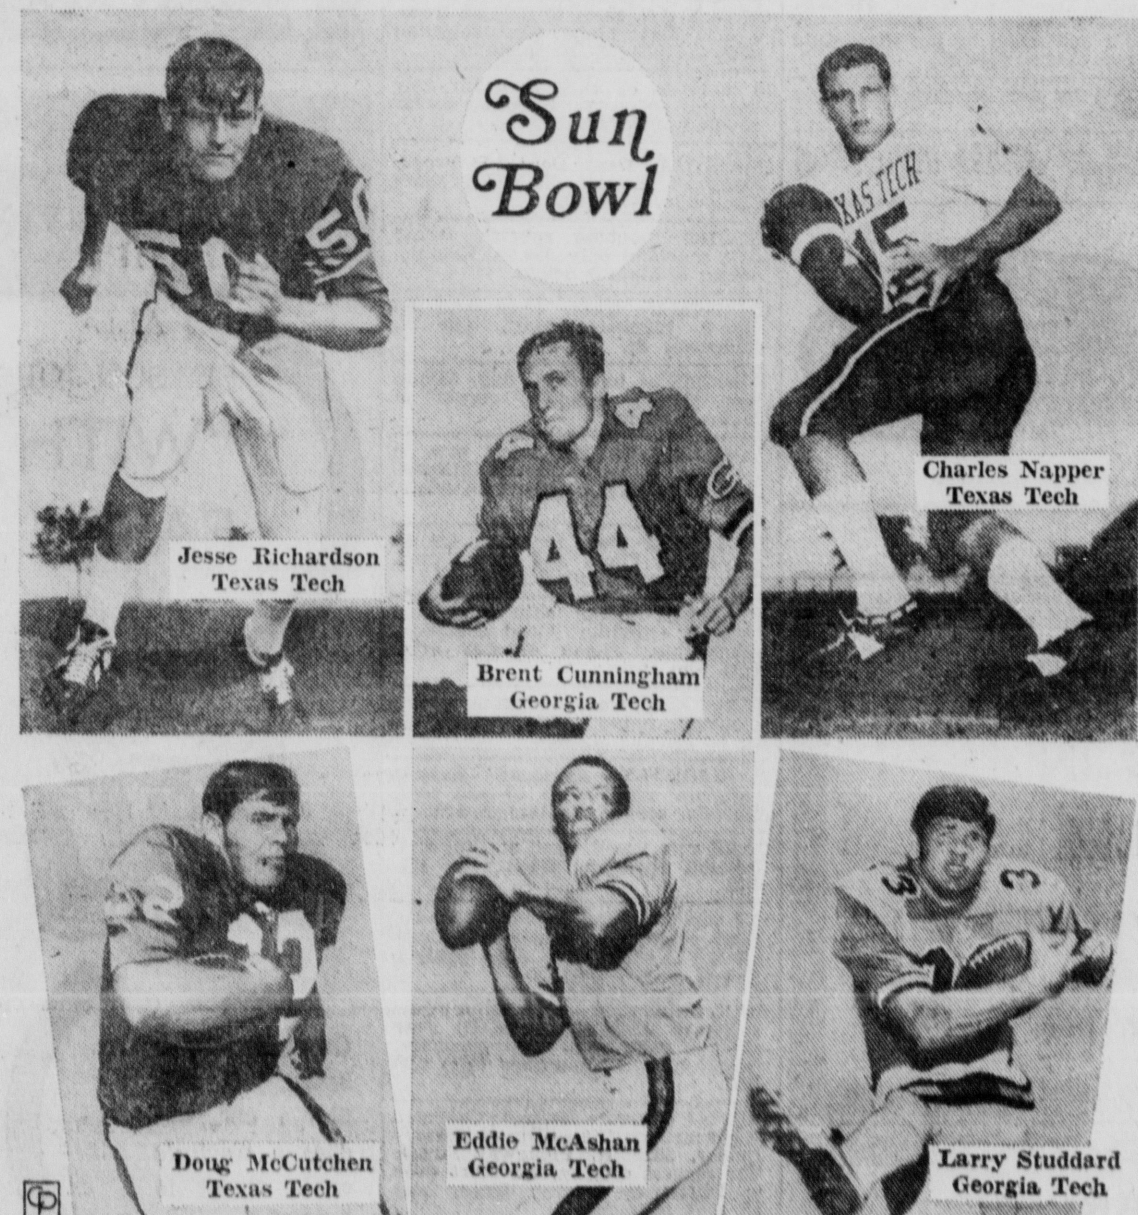

Sample, who retired from the New York Jets after the 1969 College All-Star game because of a back injury, said "blackballing was 50 per cent" of the subject of the jury's questions to him and that he thought the jury's probe was headed in the direction of blackballing. Sample called blackballing "a violation" of a player's constitutional rights. He said he knows he was blackballed from the NFL after the 1965 season with the Washington Redskins "because I was told."

He also maintained that there was discrimination in the form of "quota system," in which some clubs limit the number of blacks on the roster.

Star Nate Ramsey Shot In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Police spokesmen say they are following "some pretty firm leads" in connection with the shooting of Nate Ramsey, star defensive back for the Philadelphia Eagle. Ramsey, 29, is the National League football team's defensive captain. He was shot Monday afternoon as he walked toward a West Philadelphia tavern to meet a friend.

Police said there was no connection between the unidentified friend and the leads they were following.

A BIT TECH-NICAL ABOUT SUN BOWL—Sure is, for it will be Georgia Tech and Texas Tech in the Sun Bowl Game at El Paso, Tex., Saturday, December 19, with each team going into the encounter with identical 8-3 records. It will be the second meeting between the two teams, Georgia Tech having beaten Texas Tech, 31 to 21, in the 1965 Gator Bowl. Leading the way for the Yellow Jackets of Georgia Tech are back Brent Cunningham, who gained 740 yards; quarterback Eddie McAshan, with 110 completions in 223 attempts; and back Larry Studdard, kick-off return specialist. Back Doug McCutchen gained 1,076 yards for the Red Raiders of Texas Tech, quarterback Charlie Napper has completed 86 of 155 passes and Jesse Richardson is a star tackle. Each team beat one common foe, Tulane.

Gray Team Announced

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — When the lights come up in Montgomery's Cramton Stadium for the first nighttime playing of the Blue-Gray football classic, Dec. 28 South head coach Paul Dietzel of South Carolina will be fielding a team liberally sprinkled with All-Americans.

The game is the 33rd annual meeting of college grid stars from opposite sides of the Mason-Dixon line, and one of the brighter Gray lights could well be Georgia Tech lineman Rock Perdoni, holder of berths on both The Associated Press and Look magazine's All-American teams.

Another is Tulane tailback David Ambercrombie, who last Saturday was named the most valuable player in the 1970 Liberty Bowl. Ambercrombie scored two second half touchdowns to guide Tulane to a 17-3 victory over Colorado.

Quarterbacking chores will be handled by Arkansas' Bill Montgomery and Tommy Suggs of South Carolina.

Montgomery heads into the contest with a career offense record of 355 completions for 4,916 yards.

Tight end, Doug Hamrick of South Carolina; split end and flanker, Sammy Milner of Mississippi State; Jack Anderson of Clemson and Frank Lewis of Grambling; tackles and guards, John Mooring of Tampa, Dave Thompson of Clemson, Larry McGee of Memphis State and Richard Gardner of Georgia Tech.

Also, center, John Bomer of Memphis State; quarterback, Montgomery and Suggs; running backs, Ray Yauger of Clemson and Ambercrombie.

Defense:

Ends, Ron Wallace of Florida State; Rusty Ganas of South Carolina and Bruce James of Arkansas; linemen, Mike Walker of Tulane, Perdoni and Richard Harris of Grambling.

Also, linebackers Rich Kingren of Tulane and Dick Biddle of Duke; cornerbacks, John Cappellano of Duke and Charles Ford of Houston; safety, Bubba Hoats of Georgia Tech and Buckly Allshouse of Rice; kicker, Jack Simcsak of Virginia Tech.

MIAMI (AP) — The attorney's game plan called for outflanking the NFL's Super Bowl television blackout for the Miami area in federal court. But it was a busted play.

The ref charged the offense with illegal motion.

Judge Ted Cabot ruled the right of South Florida's 2.5 million inhabitants to watch a live broadcast of a football game did not come within the area of constitutional guarantees.

Cabot Monday upheld a motion by the National Football League and the City of Miami to dismiss a suit brought by Miami Beach attorney Ellis Rubin, who had charged the NFL with violating the Sherman Anti-Trust Act.

Rubin claimed $115,000 of taxpayers' money spent to promote the game made Dade County and the state of Florida co-sponsors of a private enterprise.

Rubin said the dismissal of his suit did not mean he had given up efforts to lift the blackout.

He said he would go into a state court to ask that spending tax dollars to promote the game be stopped.

After that, he said, he would lay before NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle a petition bearing the signatures of 40,000 people who asked that the blackout be relaxed.

If Rozelle failed to comply, Rubin said he would organize a South Florida boycott of "every sponsor who buys time" on the Super Bowl broadcast.

The Bowler of the Year trophy was presented to David Olney for his outstanding achievement at the past bowling season.

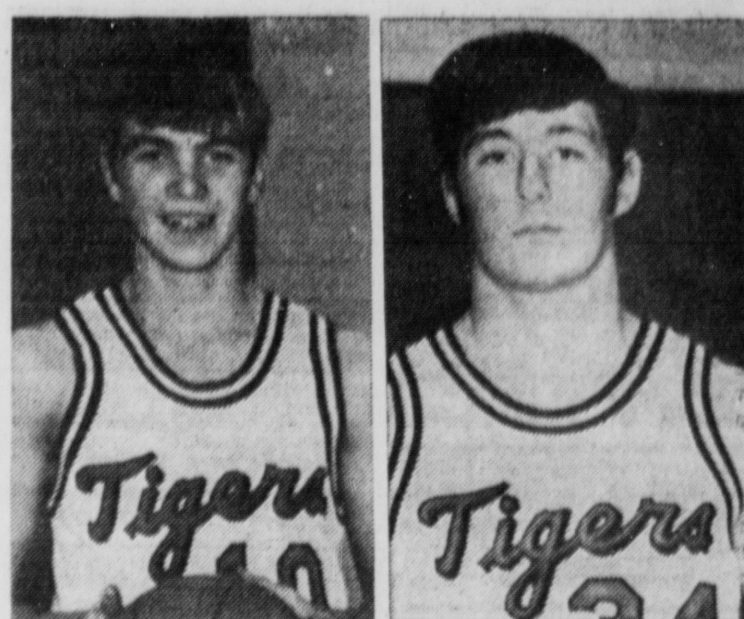

Fees for the City Tournament was voted on and it was agreed team entry fee would be set at $25 per team. Doubles and Singles fee would be $10 per man, all events would be $2 optional.

Merit awards from American Bowling Congress were presented to: George Ebbrecht, Dick Carter, Bill Hammond, David Olney and George Founds for their games of 279. David Olney also received his for his series of 780, which was high for the association.

Hawkeyes Top BG Falcons 89-78 In Top Cage Action

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Fred Brown popped in 33 points Monday night as the Iowa Hawkeyes downed the Bowling Green Falcons 89-78 in a non-conference match.

Brown produced a 15 - point scoring spree in the final 10 minutes to clinch the game for the Big Ten conference Hawkeyes.

The Mid-American Conference lead only once in the game when they held a brief 6-4 lead. Late in the game, they pulled even at 64-64, but then Brown stole the show.

The Falcons' high man was Rich Walker with 23 points. Bowling Green is 2-2 and Iowa 2-3.

The Baldwin-Wallace Yellow Jackets chalked up their first win of the season by defeating Rose Poly at Terre Haute, Ind., 87-76. Dean Martin, 6-5 forward for B-W, pumped in 30 points to aid the cause.

Rose Poly held a 40-37 half-time lead, but the Yellow Jackets put on a press that forced Rose Poly into a series of errors. Jim Eppen was tops for the Engineers with 13 points.

The Yellow Jackets are now 1-4. Rose is 4-2.

Wright State University scored its first varsity victory ever by downing Grand Valley Mich., 91-84. This is Wright State's first year with a varsity sound. The team is 1-6 on the season.

Dave Magill was the leading scorer for Wright State with 23. While Arnell Simpson of Grand Valley had 28. Grand Valley is 3-2.

A 25-foot jumpshot with three seconds remaining by Cumberland's Jerry Hodges toppled Rio Grande 75-73 in Kentucky Intercollegiate Athletic Conference Play. Hodges had a total of 28 points.

Detroit Lions Stop Rams, 28-23

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — "We'll just have to get ready for the New York Giants Sunday—and hope Oakland defeats the San Francisco 49ers."

Coach George Allen of the Rams had this observation today following their 28-23 loss to the Detroit Lions on Monday night.

The Rams are at New York Sunday and the 49ers are at Oakland as the NFL regular season campaign goes down to the wire.

The Lions, having devoured successively San Francisco, Oakland, St. Louis and now the Rams, dropped Los Angeles a game behind San Francisco—8.4-1 to the 49ers 9-3-1—in the National Conference West.

Coach Joe Schmidt's Motor City wreckers kept themselves alive in the National Conference Central with 9-4-0 and a chance to make the playoffs. They host Green Bay Sunday.

The largest Ram turnout of the year, 79,441, packed Memorial Coliseum to see their heroes go down in the nationally televised contest.

It wasn't as close as the score indicates. Quarterback Greg Landry skillfully directed a well-balanced offense and the defense checked the Rams on two field goals through three quarters.

Roman Gabriel and the Rams came to life in the final period and threatened with 17 points.

With 3:07 remaining and trailing 21-16, Los Angeles launched a rally from its own 17. It ended abruptly when middle linebacker Mike Lucci intercepted a Gabriel pass and ran it back 12 yards.

Three plays later, following a 22-yard keeper scamper by Landry, Steve Owens, the 1969 Heisman Trophy winner, went in from the four to sew it up, 28-16.

Los Angeles did travel back 66 yards for a touchdown but at that stage it was meaningless.

The Ram coach blamed a tripping penalty called on the Rams as the key mishap. On fourth and three, Detroit had to punt from its own 25. The penalty not only advanced the ball to the Lion 40 but cost the Rams badly needed possession of the ball midway through the final quarter.

Owens got his chance when regular running back Mel Farr was injured on his second carry of the young game—15 yards—and went to the pits with a shoulder dislocation.

Schmidt said later he didn't know how long Farr would be sidelined.

Owens was more than adequate. He scored two touchdowns and gained 66 yards—which was 19 yards more than the entire Ram rushing output.

Gabriel gained 323 yards via the air and threw two touchdowns passes. It was the most yards Gabe had ever gained but it went for nothing.

Atomic Speedway Names '70 Special Point Fund Winners

Chuck Fletcher of Columbus and Do Stump of Circleville repeated their steady performances as the big money winners in the special point fund at Atomic Speedway during the 1970 season.

Distribution completed by the Chillicothe Stock Car Racing Association of the bonus fund amounting to $3,840 has Fletcher back as the super-modified point leader and Stump and Bob Crace of Chillicothe finishing 1-2 for the second straight year in the super-stock class.

Fletcher collected $384 on his 358 points and Stump a d Crace pocketed $192 and $128 on 551 and 489 points.

George Harbour of Huntington, W. Va., finished in the top 10 in the modified class for the first time for runner-up money of $256. Sam Erwin of Portsmouth repeated in third place, followed by Bud Frazier of Chillicothe, Jim Meeker of Chillicothe, Charles McCann of Piketon, Audie Swartz of Portsmouth, Junior Smalley of Waverly, Al Nunnery of South Point and Joe Frazier of Chillicothe, the only other newcomer in the top 10.

Paul Cohan of Jackson moved up from eighth to third in the super-stock class, followed by George Branscom of Chillicothe, Joe Teeters of Pikeston, Bob Stanhope of Chillicothe, Chico Coleman of Circleville, Dick French of Chillicothe, Jim Steel of Jackson and Mike Wilson of Circleville.

Half of the super-stockers are new in the top 10.

Canal Winchester Nips Amanda, 73-66

Amanda Clearcreek dropped a hard fought contest to Canal Winchester, 73-66, Saturday night on the Canal Winchester home court.

Dave Kraft hooped 23 points for the Aces, Ike Wampler added 16 and Gary Rainier had 12.

Lackey had 21 for Winchester and Jeffers contributed 19 in the winning effort.

Amanda is now 2-3 for the season and will be at Wehrle Memorial Saturday.

TV Boosters Slate County Cage Meet

Teays Valley Athletic Booster Club will hold a Pickaway County Alumni Basketball tournament Dec. 28 at Teays Valley High School.

Logan Elm will go against Westfall in the first game and Circleville will meet Teays Valley in the second contest.

The two winners will then meet in the championship game. The first game will get underway at 7 p.m.

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — National League batting champion Rico Carty is recuperating today from surgery Monday on his fractured left knee. Doctors said the operation was successful.

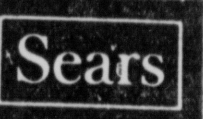

Carty broke the bone in a collision Friday night in a Dominican League game. He also had a piece of cartilage removed from the knee during the 90-minute surgery.

NEW YORK (AP) — After a hiatus of 14 years, the Professional Golfers Association has returned a match play championship to its tournament trail.

The National Match Play Championship will be played over the 6,973-yard Country Club of North Carolina course at Pinehurst next August with a $32,000 first prize awaiting the winner.

MIAMI (AP) — Not even a collision with the starting gate could keep jockey Bill Hartack from his 4,000th victory. Hartack ignored his injured side and brought Roart from last to first place at Tropical Park before tumbling from the saddle after the finish.

The victory Monday made the controversial 38-year-old jockey the fifth American in racing history to pass the 4,000 mark.

Logan Elm Board Announces Free School Lunch Policy

The Logan Elm Board of Education has announced its policy on free and reduced priced lunches to those children determined by building principals to be unable to pay the full price for school lunches.

It is suggested that families who feel that their children may be eligible for free or reduced price lunches, are invited to apply. Copies of the application form will be sent home with a letter to parents. Additional copies may be obtained at the high school.

The complete application, signed by an adult member of the family should be sent to the school principal or the Cafeteria Supervisor. Such applications will be reviewed promptly and within three days the family will be notified in writing as to the decision made.

All information provided on the application will be held in confidence.

Any unusual circumstances or hardships which affect the family's ability to pay for school lunches, such as prolonged illness in the family, unexpected expenses due to fire, flood, or any other disaster of this nature; seasonal unemployment and similar emergency situations, will also be considered.

If a family is not satisfied with the decision made on its application, it may request a hearing to appeal the decision. This request may be made orally or in writing to John Henn, district superintendent at the Logan Elm High School who will review the application with them to see if different arrangements can be made.

The school districts approved free and reduced price policy statement and the procedure that will be followed when a decision is appealed are on file in the Superintendents office at the school and may be reviewed by any interested person.

The school district has long recognized the need for helping meet these nutritional needs of its students. The following schools: Logan Elm High School, Pickaway Twp., Salt Creek Twp. and Washington Twp. serve well-balanced nutritious lunches each school day. The charge to students who can pay is 30 cents in the elementary schools and 35 cents in the high school.

Bomb Explodes In Saigon Hotel

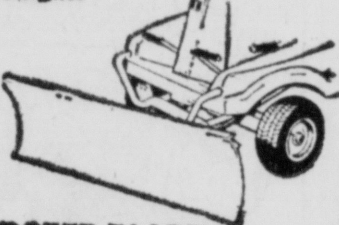

SAIGON (AP) — A bomb ripped through three floors of a U.S. military hotel in downtown Saigon tonight, and first reports said two American officers and two Vietnamese were wounded. "Thank God it was dinner time," said Sgt. Bernard Strawn, 31, of Albuquerque, N.M., the hotel supervisor. "Most of the officers were out the building to dinner. It would have had some killed had they been in the building."

Strawn said the bomb ripped through an apartment complex and caused extensive damage to the second, third and fourth floors of the six-story Le Qui Don billet. It normally houses about 100 U.S. officers.

GOP Governors Unhappy With Connally Appointment

By WALTER MEARS
Associated Press Writer
SUN VALLEY, Idaho (AP) — Republican governors, all of them surprised and some dismayed at the appointment of Texas Democrat John B. Connally to succeed Treasury Secretary David Kennedy, have a chance today to discuss their political complaints with Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

Some of the 28 governors and two governors-elect at the winter conference of the National Republican Governors Association were already unhappy with President Nixon's statement that governors now "do not play an important role in presidential politics" and with administration campaign tactics this year.

Republican National Chairman Rogers C. B. Morton said Democrat Connally, with "his political acumen," might help push such items as revenue sharing through Congress.

That did nothing to calm critics who said privately that the President's choice of Connally seemed to signal a new kind of Southern strategy.

Ten governors at the conference will be leaving office next month and some of them would like jobs with the administration.

"I think there were a lot of unemployed Republican governors who could have been appointed instead of an unemployed Democrat," said Cargo, a lame duck who has said he is not personally interested in administration employment.

Agnew was due in Sun Valley later today to confer with the governors and address a banquet tonight.

For all their restiveness, the governors so far had avoided any direct arguments with administration representatives.

"I have heard no complaints from anyone," said Murray Chotler, a Nixon political adviser.

Morton said he hadn't either. "I don't think that a public bloodletting is on anybody's mind," said Gov. Tom McCall of Oregon.

McCall said the Connally appointment was "quite surprising—I don't know how I'd have felt if I'd been Claude Kirk, a certified investment banker."

Kirk, defeated for re-election in Florida, said he had no complaints. He said he agreed with the conservative Connally on government financial policy, and considers the choice and the political affiliation of an appointee a matter for the President to decide.

Gov. John A. Love of Colorado termed Connally a competent man with no particular credentials for the Treasury post.

Gov. William G. Milliken of

Michigan was chosen by his colleagues to become vice chairman of the governors association. Louie B. Nunn of Kentucky, now the vice chairman, will be the new chairman.

Milliken said the Republican party needs to broaden its base and adopt a more positive approach.

"I think we all learned something in 1970," Milliken said. "I don't expect that 1972 campaign will be anything like 1973."

Apostolic Church Sets Fund Drive

Pastor of the Apostolic Church, Eva Drive and Route 56, Rev. James, announces the church's participation in the annual Christmas for Christ fund raising drive in the United Pentecostal Churches. These include churches in the United States of America and Canada. Sponsored by the home missions department of the church, the drive annually supports the building of new churches where needed.

Each family of the church is requested to give a part of the money they would normally spend on Christmas gifts.

The success of the program can be measured by the accomplishments of the first four years. Fifty-one new churches have been established by supplying full time ministers and their families with sufficient backing.

The offering will be received at the local church on Sunday evening.

Church Schedules Candlelight Service

A candlelight service will be conducted Sunday evening at the Lowery Lane Church. The public is invited to attend.

Sunday School Classes are striving for an all time record of 90 students. The highest number ever attending was 82.

The church is located on Lowery Lane, just off Town St.

Bomb Explodes In Saigon Hotel

SAIGON (AP) — A bomb ripped through three floors of a U.S. military hotel in downtown Saigon tonight, and first reports said two American officers and two Vietnamese were wounded.

"Thank God it was dinner time," said Sgt. Bernard Strawn, 31, of Albuquerque, N.M., the hotel supervisor. "Most of the officers were out the building to dinner. It would have had some killed had they been in the building."

Strawn said the bomb ripped through an apartment complex and caused extensive damage to the second, third and fourth floors of the six-story Le Qui Don billet. It normally houses about 100 U.S. officers.

GOP Governors Unhappy With Connally Appointment

By WALTER MEARS
Associated Press Writer
SUN VALLEY, Idaho (AP) — Republican governors, all of them surprised and some dismayed at the appointment of Texas Democrat John B. Connally to succeed Treasury Secretary David Kennedy, have a chance today to discuss their political complaints with Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

Apostolic Church Sets Fund Drive

Pastor of the Apostolic Church, Eva Drive and Route 56, Rev. James, announces the church's participation in the annual Christmas for Christ fund raising drive in the United Pentecostal Churches. These include churches in the United States of America and Canada. Sponsored by the home missions department of the church, the drive annually supports the building of new churches where needed.

Each family of the church is requested to give a part of the money they would normally spend on Christmas gifts.

The success of the program can be measured by the accomplishments of the first four years. Fifty-one new churches have been established by supplying full time ministers and their families with sufficient backing.

The offering will be received at the local church on Sunday evening.

Some of the 28 governors and two governors-elect at the winter conference of the National Republican Governors Association were already unhappy with President Nixon's statement that governors now "do not play an important role in presidential politics" and with administration campaign tactics this year.

Connally's appointment was quickly added to the list of complaints.

There were suggestions from governors as conservative as Don W. Samuelson of Idaho and as liberal as Gov. David F. Cargo of New Mexico that the appointment might better have gone to a Republican.

The governors, meanwhile, petitioned Nixon to talk with them about their request for a state and local share of federal tax revenues before he makes his State of the Union address.

They want $10 billion a year beginning next July 1. The governors warned of "an impending collapse of confidence in state and local government" if Washington doesn't provide immediate help.

Church Schedules Candlelight Service

A candlelight service will be conducted Sunday evening at the Lowery Lane Church. The public is invited to attend.

Sunday School Classes are striving for an all time record of 90 students. The highest number ever attending was 82.

The church is located on Lowery Lane, just off Town St.

Republican National Chairman Rogers C. B. Morton said Democrat Connally, with "his political acumen," might help push such items as revenue sharing through Congress.

That did nothing to calm critics who said privately that the President's choice of Connally seemed to signal a new kind of Southern strategy.

Ten governors at the conference will be leaving office next month and some of them would like jobs with the administration.

"I think there were a lot of unemployed Republican governors who could have been appointed instead of an unemployed Democrat," said Cargo, a lame duck who has said he is not personally interested in administration employment.

Agnew was due in Sun Valley later today to confer with the governors and address a banquet tonight.

For all their restiveness, the governors so far had avoided any direct arguments with administration representatives.

"I have heard no complaints from anyone," said Murray Chotier, a Nixon political adviser.

Morton said he hadn't either. "I don't think that a public bloodletting is on anybody's mind," said Gov. Tom McCall of Oregon.

McCall said the Connally appointment was "quite surprising — I don't know how I'd have felt if I'd been Claude Kirk, a certified investment banker."

Kirk, defeated for re-election in Florida, said he had no complaints. He said he agreed with the conservative Connally on government financial policy, ad considers the choice and the political affiliation of an appointee a matter for the President to decide.

Gov. John A. Love of Colorado termed Connally a competent man with no particular credentials for the Treasury post.

Gov. William G. Milliken of

Michigan was chosen by his colleagues to become vice chairman of the governors association. Louie B. Nunn of Kentucky, now the vice chairman, will be the new chairman.

Milliken, a critic of administration tactics in the 1970 campaign, automatically succeeds Nunn next year and thus will be chairman of the association during the 1972 national campaign.

Milliken said the Republican party needs to broaden its base and adopt a more positive approach.

"I think we all learned something in 1970," Milliken said. "I don't expect that 1972 campaign will be anything like 1973."
